

Wide Variety Of Loot Taken Here

Automobiles, bicycles, furs, jewelry and money were included in the loot taken in weekend thefts and burglaries in Newton.

JAMES RITVO

Student Has Busy Summer As Volunteer

When James Ritvo goes back to Tufts University for his sophomore year a few weeks hence, he won't waste much time in telling how much money he made in summer work or of the attractions of a faraway vacation spot.

Jim, son of Dr. and Mrs. Meyer Ritvo of 63 Bennington Street, Newton, didn't have a paying job. He was too busy all summer to sample either the seashore or the beaches.

Two thieves fled from dwellings, one with $8 and the other empty-handed, when they were surprised in the act of committing their crimes.

One young burglar, who apparently intended to steal a portable television set, was described as only about 14 or 15 years old.

A candidate for the title of meanest thief of the season stole $240 in cash from the Capri Restaurant in West Newton which had been donated to help pay the hospital bills of an employee injured in a motorcycle accident.

Attached to each bill in the collection was the notation, "Thomas Clancy Fund."

Police believe that the robber climbed onto the roof of the building and entered the restaurant through a shattered window.

In a previous break last week in the same restaurant $50 in coins was taken from two vending machines.

A young burglar described as about 14 or 15 years old fled when he was surprised while in the act of attempting to rob the home of Charles Burkhardt at 39 Scotney Rd., Newton Centre.

Philip Normandin of Sudbury, who was taking care of the dwelling while the Burkhardts were away, told police he went there shortly after 8 o'clock Monday night and discovered a youth in the kitchen.

The boy fled when Normandin entered the kitchen.

He had used a stepladder to reach a bathroom room and had gained entry by cutting the screen.

New Newton Post Office A Possibility

Word that as soon as practicable more adequate space would be available for the Newton branch of the Boston Post Office has been received by Cong. Joseph W. Martin Jr.

Following complaints from many of his constituents that the present Newton office is unsatisfactory in view of the new traffic patterns created by the toll road extension, the Congressman wrote to the Boston regional office.

Regional Director Donald P. Steele replied to his letter as follows:

"The Post Office Department desires to obtain more adequate and suitable space, and the availability of other space or possible locations is being explored."

"It is our desire to obtain permanent, more desirable quarters for the post office at Newton Branch as soon as practicable and the matter is receiving continuing attention."

Mayor Will Recommend More Police If Needed

He expressed the conviction that the city's police have done a good job in tracking down and rounding up persons who have committed crimes in Newton.

"That doesn't mean that we haven't got a problem," the Mayor added.

Mayor Gibbs cited that the police department has been enlarged in recent years by the employment of policewomen to perform traffic duty at school crossings and that it will be expanded further when meter maids are hired to patrol the city's parking meters.

While the policewomen and the meter maids don't round up criminals, they do free police officers for that work," he asserted.

"But if it is shown that more police are needed, I will be the first to recommend that they be appointed," he stressed.

The Mayor emphasized that he is anxious as anyone to see that the people of Newton get good police protection.

Local Solons Split On Tax Plans Voting

The four Newton members in the Massachusetts House of Representatives split on party lines in voting for or against the various tax plans this week.

Republican Representative Theodore D. Mann voted for Governor Volpe's tax program but against the Donahue-Kenneally tax bill and the House Ways and Means Committee tax package.

Democratic Representatives Joseph G. Bradley, Irving Fishman and Paul F. Malloy voted for the House Ways and Means proposal and the Donahue-Kenneally plan but against the Volpe bill.

Volpe's plan, calling for a 3 per cent limited sales tax and a modest increase in the State income tax, would have provided the most financial assistance for Newton.

The Donahue-Kenneally plan, which advocated a doubling of the State income tax and an assortment of business taxes, would have furnished a lesser amount of help for Newton.

The House Ways and Means proposal would have done virtually nothing for Newton except to enable the State to pay back money it owes to the city.

5 Newton Students Get Service Honor

Five Newton High School students were among a group of 38 young men and women honored at a special tea this week for 3,000 hours of summer volunteer service at Beth Israel Hospital.

The students served the hospital in the multi-faceted volunteer program developed by Mrs. Edward Sugarman, Director of Volunteer Service at the hospital.

Mrs. Sugarman noted that "during the summer months these youngsters assume responsibility for tasks assigned to adult volunteers during fall and winter."

"They have helped in the transportation of patients, admitting procedures, visitor control, gift shop and library circulation to patients and numerous other duties that help to keep our patients happy and comfortable."

The Rev. Bernard D. Alderman of Waban has been appointed interim Dean of the New England Conservatory of Music Graduate School, and will assume his administrative responsibilities on Wednesday, Sept. 1.

With Mrs. Alderman, he recently returned from a year of study in Vienna. Recipient of a Marsden Foundation Fellowship, his area of practical concentration was in local therapy.

While at Andover-Newton, he worked under the chaplain training programs at both the Bedford Veterans' Hospital and the Mass. Memorial Hospitals. Prior to his year of advanced training abroad, he served for nine years as Pastor of the First Baptist Church in Lisbon Falls, Maine.

Replies from 18 cities queried by the committee show that salaries range from $1.75 per hour to $545 a month. Highest paid are the 86 checkers in Los Angeles, who work 40 hours a week and get from $440 to $545 a month. Boston's 13 meter supervisors work between 20 and 40 hours a week for $1.75 per hour.

GORDON BURNERS

WILL HEAT YOUR HOME

WHEN THE WIRES

ARE DOWN

WHAT MORE COULD ANYONE ASK?

Most GORDON Burners can generate all the electricity needed to operate the burner and its controls.

What a Glorious Feeling that gives the Home Owner as he realizes, that Blow High or Low, he will have heat even when his friends are wearing wraps.

Some people get their heat (directly or indirectly) from an electric power line and, if a pole goes down, so does the thermometer.

This problem faces everyone who owns a heating plant that does not generate its own electric power. Its the reason why so many home owners ask for the GORDON (self-generating) Gas Conversion Burner.

Over 50,000 people heat their homes with a Roberts-Gordon Burner. Why not join this happy group.

Jim spent the summer as a volunteer worker at the headquarters for Action for Boston Community Development, Inc., 18 Tremont Street, Boston. He was assigned to the office of Paul Mico, supervisor of health planning.

He's a husky youth, unafraid of work. One summer ago he earned $3.10 an hour as a laborer helping in the construction of Route 95, the new Boston-Providence highway link.

He liked the job but somehow, neither the money, which was attractive, nor the work which was both healthy and muscle-building, fitted into his ideas of a worthwhile summer job. During the past winter he became interested in the Civil Rights movement and in President Johnson's many-phased war on poverty.

"I'd like to do something worthwhile along those lines," he told Mr. Mico a couple of months back. The next day he went to work as a volunteer at ABCD. Since then he has put in plenty of hours of hard work. His only recompense has been knowledge of a summer filled with worthwhile endeavor.

Recently, on the briefest kind of notice, he was a leading factor in helping to round up a team of doctors, nurses and medical clerical workers. It seemed ABCD found itself in a position of extending its rolls of Neighborhood Youth Corps boys and girls so that more than 500 youngsters, 15 and 16, could be put to work under a $380,282 grant from the Office of Economic Opportunity to ABCD.

To place the youngsters on jobs as soon as possible, it was necessary that they obtain work certificates. To obtain work certificates it was necessary to pass physical examinations. That's where the need of the doctors and nurses and clerical help came in.

Did you ever try to round up a medical force like that in the middle of summer? It's not easy. Jim plunged into the task with fervor. He had lots of help but for a young man who could be earning extra cash or enjoying himself far from the city's heat to take a lead role in a job like that won the approval and admiration of ABCD Executive Director Joseph S. Slavet.

The 15-16-year-olds were put to work on worthwhile

He said the suggested new law "would also authorize federal support for the development of improved methods of enforcing criminal laws and administering justice."

"For example, experiments might be undertaken with different kinds and intensity of police coverage in high crime districts in order to learn more about effective allocation of manpower," Carmen stated.

Carmen urged that Newton prepare now to apply for such funds and training as soon as the bill is enacted into law.

At the same time he advocated that the city seek funds under another federal law, "The Juvenile Delinquency and Youth Offenses Control Act," for short-term projects to assist police in the proper understanding and handling of youthful offenders.

It is urgent that we take every possible step to immediately turn the tide against the current house break crime wave in Newton," Carmen stressed. "The welfare of our families and property are at stake, and the future reputation of Newton may be in jeopardy. It's time for action."

Local Youngsters Finish 1965 Season at Day Camp

Many Newton youngsters were included among the campers at the Summer Day Camp of the Cambridge School of Weston which has completed its sixth season of operation.

Tents have been folded and put away; sun-tanned campers have headed for home; the woods and fields are quiet.

The following campers from Newton enjoyed the healthful facilities this summer: Eric Moran, Benjamin Rosenberg, John Halle, Peter Levine, Ronald Katz, Louise Cohen, Judith Green, Jane Sandler, Donna Richman, Leslie Moran, Laurie Keith, Jeannie Rabin, Thiana Kittrakis, Dorene Krieks, Jill Sandler, Carrie Speers, Elizabeth Mann, Leslie Swensrud, Loren Bunker, Jerold Cibley, Ronnie Green, Carol Rosenberg, Amy Speers, Andrew Freed and Rebecca Bronson.

New program features this year included archaeological field trips to old Indian campsites in Billerica and Waltham, led by R. Curtis Chapin of Wayland. The digs unearthed several fine arrow heads, pottery fragments, and spear heads. Another innovation was a stocked pool containing many of New England's native fish and other aquatic life.

Fencing lessons, taught by Mr. Prystawick of Newton, developed some potential Olympic stars for the 1976 games.

The horseback riders had excellent instruction at Victory Lee Stables in Concord.

Political Highlights

Past events would indicate that there is more than a remote possibility that he will.

Senator Kennedy and State Senate President Donahue are close personal and political friends.

Donahue was Ted Kennedy's floor manager at the 1962 Democratic State Convention when Ted was battling former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack for the conclave's endorsement for the U. S. Senate.

Now a fight is looming up between Donahue and McCormack for the Democratic endorsement for Governor.

Donahue, who has substantial delegate strength in his own right, probably would be a favorite to prevail at next year's Democratic State Convention if he has Ted Kennedy's backing.

This may be what prompted McCormack to serve notice at the meeting of Democratic leaders at Ted Kennedy's home that he will run in the 1966 Democratic primary regardless of what happens at the State chairman of the Democratic Convention.

What effect, if any, this had upon Ted Kennedy is not known.

Democratic chieftains, including Kennedy, are anxious to avoid a bitter primary struggle within their party such as was waged last year between Endicott Peabody and Francis X. Bellotti.

McCormack was letting them know that there will be if he is defeated at the convention.

If Ted Kennedy takes any part in the convention clash between Donahue and McCormack, it will be to help his old friend, Maurice Donahue. There is no likelihood whatever of his supporting McCormack against Donahue.

Ted could follow three courses in a Donahue-McCormack convention fight.

He could back Donahue openly. He could support him from behind the scenes without any public pronouncement. Or he could remain neutral.

Whether Donahue would go into a convention battle if he does not have some assurance of help from Ted Kennedy is a question.

He presumably would if he felt he could get the convention nod since Ted would be likely to take the stump in the primary for the candidate carrying the endorsement of the State conclave.

When the late John F. Kennedy was the junior Senator from Massachusetts, he remained carefully aloof from convention and primary fights within his own party.

In fact, JFK was opposed to the convention system of endorsing candidates. At his best John M. Lynch, while chairman of the Democratic State Committee, unsuccessfully sought the repeal of the law authorizing such State conventions.

Ted Kennedy has involved himself far more deeply in State politics than did his late brother and in last fall's primary endorsed Peabody against Bellotti from the hospital bed where he was recovering from a broken back.

What he will do next year is still only a matter of speculation. But the statements he makes as the principal speaker at Donahue's testimonial will be carefully weighed by Democratic politicians who will be looking for signs of things to come.

More Police Needed

Editor

Newton Graphic

I believe that the members of the Newton police department do an excellent job. But I do feel that the police force is not large enough to provide proper protection for the residents in a city as large as Newton.

It is not sound economy to have an under-manned police force and at the same time have the citizens of Newton robbed of hundreds of dollars each week.

Obviously, it would be impossible to station a police officer on every street to be on the lookout for anything of a suspicious nature.

Yet, it also must be agreed that if we did have more police it follows that we should have more police protection. This is a matter to which our city officials should give thoughtful consideration.

Temple School Classes Start At Simmons

September 13

Temple Emanuel Religious School of Newton will reopen Monday, September 13th. The Primary Department will resume classes on Sunday, October 10th. Regional Hebrew High School will begin on Monday, September 20th. Registration for new students will take place on Wednesday, September 8 from 10:00 - 12:00 and 2:00 to 4:00.

The Temple Emanuel Religious School educational program is based on the standard curriculum of the Bureau of Jewish Education of Boston within the framework of the philosophy and objectives of the Conservative Movement. The Temple Emanuel school system maintains three separate departments.

The Primary Department for children of ages 5-6-7 meets on Sunday morning and strives to provide the young students with rich and varied opportunities for pleasurable experiences in Jewish living. The Hebrew Department offers a 6-year course of study in Hebrew Language, Chumash, Prayer, Jewish Life and Religious Practices, and Jewish Social Studies.

The graduates of this department are eligible to continue their studies at Regional Hebrew High School which is sponsored jointly by the Conservative Temples of Newton and its environs. Regional Hebrew High School classes meet at Temple Emanuel on Monday and Wednesday nights from 7-9. The Intensive Hebrew Department offers a 6-year intensive course of study in Hebrew Language, Bible, Prayer, Jewish Life and Religious Practices and Jewish Social Studies. The graduates of this department are eligible to continue their studies at the Prozdor of Hebrew Teachers College.

Temple Emanuel provides a program of intensive preparation for the Bar-Bat Mitzvah ceremony which requires, exclusive of regular Religious School sessions, three study sessions with Rabbi Albert I. Gordon; a class for the cantillation of the Hafotah; a class for the study of Basic Judaism; and required attendance at Sabbath morning services. Students must have at least five full years of study prior to the Bar-Bat Mitzvah ceremony.

Trip to Bermuda Followed Conn - Conroy Wedding

Bermuda is the honeymoon destination of Mr. Martin Conn and his bride, the former Miss Patricia Jeri Conroy, whose marriage took place recently at the Presbyterian Church in Westfield, Ct.

Escorted by her uncle, Mr. A. Herbert Mattson and given away by her mother, the couple repeated their vows after Dr. Frederick E. Christian, which took place at 4 o'clock and was followed by a reception at the Monday Afternoon Club in Plainfield, N.J.

Daughter of Mrs. Robert E. Conroy of Westfield, Ct., and the late Mr. Conroy, the bride was attired in white silk linen designed with a Belgium lace trimmed train. Similar lace edged the mantilla of silk net. Her flowers were sweetheart roses, stephanotis and ivy.

Corpus Christi Church Scene of Binnall - Horn Bridal

In the Corpus Christi Church, recently, Miss Roberta Lee Horn was married to Thomas Henry Binnall.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Irvin Robert Horn of 17 Charles street, Auburndale, and the late Mr. Horn. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Binnall of 58 Kenneth street, Newton Highlands, are the groom's parents.

The Rev. Edward Beueler celebrated the 11 o'clock nuptial Mass and performed the double-ring ceremony. A reception was held at Holiday Inn in Waltham.

Mr. Robert T. Beattie of Palo Alto, Calif., uncle of the bride, gave her away. Her white silk organza gown, appliqued with Alencon lace, had a chapel-length train.

Alencon lace and pearls fashioned the becoming headpiece caught with her silk illusion veil. She carried a cascade of white orchids and roses.

The groom's sister, Miss Margaret Binnall of Newton Highlands was maid of honor. Miss Andrea Provenzano of Weston and Mrs. Richard Sutton of Waltham were bridesmaids.

GOATS TO GOATS

You may ask why "Bedford Yarn" in Natick is carrying coats for misses and women.

WHAT ??? Coats in a Yarn Shoppe!! THAT'S RIGHT

We figure that if we can sell 100,000 balls of mohair in a year, that we can sell anything if the value and depth of stock are right. So-o-o, we are now in the coat business in a big way. Come and see the only yarn shop that sells coats. Petites and Jr. Petites, too!

CHILD GAINS CONFIDENCE — A Gloria Castano class in action, shown here, enables the child through the group, to gain confidence in his or her ability to contribute; the child learns to share ideas and with this experience comes a new regard for himself and others.

Creative Dance Classes Resume September 14th

Sidney Hill Country Club was the scene recently of a joyful Open House for the parents of children enrolled in the Creative-Dance Creative-Crafts classes directed by Miss Gloria Castano.

The mood was set by the Creative Crafts theme which was Japanese in content. The Pavilion Room, with its painted walls of Japanese gardens, provided an ideal setting for the Oriental decor. Japanese mobiles used in the decorative scheme were made by the children during the summer.

The first part of the program was devoted to the dance and was directed by Miss Castano. The dances were varied stressing the three factors of rhythm, imagery and gesture.

The second portion of the program, devoted to the arts and crafts of Japan, was conducted by Mrs. Margerson.

Sidney Hill Country Club realizes the value of a program such as that conducted by Miss Castano, dedicated to the creative growth and development of children and will continue it for another year. Classes begin September 14th. For information phone WA 4-3286.

Tell the truth,

(A.) SWINGER

"I know I don't look it, but I'm really up to the latest on everything. You don't catch a chick like me running around paying bills by cash when I can easily and inexpensively have a Checking Account at the Newton-Waltham Bank. My jewels — and I've collected a few — are in a Safe Deposit Box. My cash is riding high in a Savings Account at the bank, too. These services are good bargains and all my life I've been looking for two things, a good bargain and a husband... not necessarily in that order."

(B.) SMOOTHIE

"Man, like Westinghouse, I've got to be sure! That's why I always carry American Express Traveler's Checks. That way, even if the money is lost or stolen, I can get a complete refund but fast. They're safe, dependable and can be cashed anywhere. Grab on to this sure thing, Traveler's Checks!"

(D.) JOVIAL

"The wife, kids and I have to have a vacation every year even if the money isn't always there for it. Oftentimes, I've gotten a Vacation Loan at the Newton-Waltham Bank — it's quick, confidential and, very important, at sensible bank rates. Repayments are easy, too, almost as easy as that third piece of blueberry pie."

(E.) NEW

"I was married in June and almost the first thing my new husband and I did was open a Checking Account at the Newton-Waltham Bank. I never had a Checking Account before and what a wonderful and economical timesaver it is. It helps control expenses, too. In fact, with the money I've saved because of my Checking Account, I hope to buy a new cookbook — which George says we desperately need."

Unlicensed Dogs May Bring A Fine To Owners

Police Capt. William F. Quinn, director of the city's new Department of Animal Control, announces that a campaign to license all dogs whose collars fail to display a license tag is underway, and in connection with it the captain has mailed a statement with a demand to some 1000 residents listed as dog owners, but who have not purchased licenses for them. His statement follows:

"Owners or keepers may obtain a dog license at City Hall in the office of the city clerk. The department's animal control officers, Patrolmen George J. Longbottom and Charles F. Rivers, are constantly on the alert to apprehend unlicensed dogs."

"An unlicensed dog will be brought to the city pound and will not be released until the required license is obtained and the pound fees are paid. In addition, complaints may be brought in Newton District Court for owning or keeping an unlicensed dog for which the fine is not less than $5 nor more than $15."

So far this year, according to City Clerk Monte G. Basbas, 4378 dog licenses have been issued.

The trip started at Journey's End Shelter near the Vermont-Canada border and continued 160 miles south to Killington Peak near Rutland, Vt. During the trip they passed over Mt. Mansfield and Camel's Hump, two very scenic spots.

17,897 Students Resume Classes Here On Monday

Newton's public schools will reopen next Monday. An estimated 17,897 boys and girls will file into classrooms in schools throughout the city to begin or resume the serious business of acquiring an education.

The enrollment will be slightly below that of last year when 18,014 pupils were registered on opening day, according to the expectations of school officials.

For hundreds of small children entering either kindergarten or the first-grade next Monday will mark the start of a great new experience, with broad vistas opening to them.

The first-graders will attend school only from 8:30 a.m. until noon for the first two weeks. They will start a full schedule beginning Sept. 27.

Approximately 1000 teachers, including about 200 who are new to the Newton school system, will have everything in readiness when their charges arrive next Monday morning.

Newtonite Is New Program Director

Dr. Alan Bernard Sostek, 28 Turner terrace, Newtonville, has been named director for the rehabilitation administration program of Northeastern University's new Rehabilitation and Special Education Department.

The new department, headed by Dr. Reuben J. Margolin, 28 Halcyon road, Newton Centre, is designed to help meet the nation's increasing need for professionals in fields of rehabilitation and special education.

Dr. Sostek will head one of the department's separate but related programs which will develop variously into graduate, post-graduate, or undergraduate curricula; first courses on the graduate level begin this fall.

Off To College

The Newton Graphic Circulation Department is again preparing for the rush of students from this area who will be leaving soon for college and universities.

Just call the Graphic Circulation Department, 326-4000 to have the paper follow you to school. The cost is $3.00 for the school year.

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Passage of New Tax Program By Legislature Now Certain

Any doubt that a new source of revenue will be provided by the State Legislature to lighten the crushing burden on real estate was virtually eliminated when Mayor John F. Collins announced a staggering $15.20 increase in Boston's tax rate.

Relief for the over-taxed home-owner and renter will not arrive until next year, but it now appears to be on the way.

Governor John A. Volpe, Senate President Maurice A. Donahue and Speaker John F. X. Davoren cannot afford to allow the Legislature to conclude its 1965 session without enacting a tax program which provides meaningful financial assistance for the cities and towns.

And there's no question that the Legislature will be held on Beacon Hill until such a program is approved, however long that may take.

What that program will be, however, remains a very big question.

Governor Volpe and Senate President Donahue now loom as the main antagonists in the battle of taxes.

They are in agreement that a tax program which

He is seeking the seat in the Aldermanic Board from which Alderman John P. McCarthy is retiring at the end of the year. McCarthy has endorsed his candidacy.

A long-time resident and businessman in Newton, Sacks is a graduate of the University of Michigan. He is married and the father of three children, two of whom attend Newton schools.

Mayoralty Fight To Spark Lively Political War Here

A lively two-man battle for the right to serve as Newton's next Mayor, 10 contests for seats on the Board of Aldermen and three fights for places on the School Committee loomed this week after the period expired in which candidates in the November municipal election could file nomination signatures to qualify for places on the ballot.

Several Aldermanic and School Board contenders submitted their nomination papers at the city election offices just before Tuesday's 5 p.m. deadline for doing so.

City Clerk Monte G. Basba of 178 Kirkstall Rd., Newtonville, and Alderman William Carmen of 48 Philore Rd., Newton, are the opponents it what promises to be a hard-hitting clash for the job as Mayor.

Mayor Donald L. Gibb along with four present members of the Board of Aldermen are retiring from office at the end of the year.

The Aldermen giving up their seats are William Carmen of Ward 7 who is running for Mayor, John P. McCarthy, Alderman-at-Large from Ward 4; and Theodore D. Ing in the House of Representatives, Alderman-at-Large from Ward 8.

One vacancy now exists in the Board of Aldermen as a result of the resignation of John F. Holden, former Alderman-at-Large from Ward 1.

An opening also was created in the School Committee following the resignation of former School Board Chairman Haskell C. Freedman as the School Board member from Ward 6.

Here is the present lineup of candidates, aside from the Basbas-Carmen fight for Mayor.

An opening also was created in the School Committee following the resignation of former School Board Chairman Haskell C. Freedman as the School Board member from Ward 6.

Here is the present lineup of candidates, aside from the Basbas-Carmen fight for Mayor.

SIDNEY T. SMALL

Sidney Small
Wide Support

Sidney T. Small reported this week that his candidacy for election as Alderman-at-Large from Ward 6 has been endorsed by public leaders and persons prominent in the professions and industry.

"I am gratified by the number of individuals who, prior to the formal fall campaign, have indicated their support of my candidacy," Small declared.

He announced that those who have joined in supporting his drive for an Aldermanic post include Representative Joseph G. Bradley, Representative Irving Fishman, Mrs. Betty Taymor, Herbert L. Connolly and Lawrence E. Cooke.

Others backing him, he stated, include Emilio A. Conzo, Harold Edinberg, Mrs. Freddie Fastow, Harvey Fleishman, Mrs. Jean S. LeCompte, Robert LeVine, Dr. Reevan Levine, Dr. Reuben J. Margolin, Mrs. Frances Proia, Anthony Salvucci and Dr. Arnold Vetsstein.

Persons who are supporting Small assert that they warmly endorse the principles he has advocated.

These include definite action on a new main library for the city, broadening of Newton's tax base, demanding that the State government participate more adequately in supplying financial assistance to Newton and a better and more complete means of communicating actions of the city government to the people of Newton.

Small also favors a program providing for more police protection for Newton, "while working toward improving the morale of the city's police force."

He declared that his campaign has been gathering momentum and said he expects this to increase through September and October.

CPA's Sponsor Taxation Night

Richard F. McArdle and S. Ralph Jacobs, both of Waban, and Jason H. Wolf of Newton Highlands are committee members for a Tax Night dinner program to be held Tuesday evening, Sept. 14, in Boston's Sheraton Plaza, under the sponsorship of the Massachusetts Society of Certified Public Accountants.

The dinner is at 6:30 o'clock, following a 5:15 social hour. Speakers will include Guy J. Rizzotto, commissioner of Corporations and Taxation, and members of the Joint Legislative Committee on Taxation.

home of Mrs. Geneva Freeman at 541 Ward St., Newton Centre. The house-breakers who went through the Freeman home left the lights on all over the dwelling.

Police investigating a break at the United Overstone Co., 19 Needham St., Newton Highlands, found a safe and file open. A check was being made to determine what had been stolen.

A break also was discovered in the used car office of the Newton Motor Sales at 773 Washington St., Newtonville.

A burglar, apparently frightened while in the process of ransacking the home of Clyde Nebeker at 370

Quinobequin Rd., Waban, fled from the dwelling, leaving his loot in a pillow case on a bedroom floor. He had placed old coins and other valuables in the pillow case.

Two watches, one of them worth $400, and money were stolen by thieves from the home of Gloria Monson at 88 Bald Pate Hill Rd., Oak Hill.

Thieves took $300 in cash from a desk drawer in Thomas Harney's apartment at 457 Centre St., Newton.

Silverware and a man's

home of Paul J. Harrington at 210 Cotton St., Newton.

The home of Mrs. Eleanor McNamara at 90 Waverley Ave., Newton, was ransacked and a wall safe in a second-floor room forced open.

Police discovered the break while investigating an attempted break at the home of Angelo Marchitelli at 100 Waverley Ave. Marchitelli told police someone tried to enter his home but apparently was frightened away.

In general, it is unwise to use groundcovers under rhododendrons, the Massachusetts Horticultural Society advises. Since these shrubs are surface rooters, any groundcovers which must also depend upon the top layer of soil will compete with the rhododendrons for food and moisture.

No Time For Politics!

Newton's three Democratic members in the House of Representatives apparently were motivated by partisan politics rather than what was best for the people they represent when they voted last week on the two major tax proposals.

That seems to be the only logical explanation for the action of Representatives Joseph G. Bradley, Irving Fishman and Paul F. Malloy in voting against the tax program offered by Governor Volpe.

Some Democratic legislators have declared that they voted against the Volpe tax plan because they were aware that the Governor intended to submit a revised and improved tax program which they would support the second time around.

It's difficult to attribute that reasoning to Representatives Bradley, Fishman and Malloy since all three voted for an alternate plan which would hit Newton residents harder and do less for the city than would the Volpe program.

As Mayor Gibbs has pointed out, the tax plan which would be the best for Newton of those proposed—the one which would have the least impact on Newton residents and provide the greatest financial return for the city—is the Volpe program.

Representatives Bradley, Fishman and Malloy are Democrats, and on partisan political issues it is reasonable to expect them to vote as Democrats.

But partisan politics should have no part in the consideration of tax programs which will affect all the people—Democrats, Republicans and Independents.

Judgment of the tax plans should be based on what's best for Newton and its people.

Of the two major tax programs voted on by the Legislature, the Volpe plan would have hit Newton residents less hard than the alternate plan Representatives Bradley, Fishman and Malloy supported.

The Volpe plan would have reduced Newton's tax rate $4.44. The alternate plan would have lowered the city's tax rate $1.28.

Representatives Bradley, Malloy and Fishman would do well to remember that their first responsibility is to the people who elect them.

They will be courting political disaster if they continue to vote against the tax plan which is best for Newton because it happens to be sponsored by a Republican Governor.

Garden City Stroll

Editor of The Graphic:

Last evening my wife and I went for a stroll. What a terrifying experience! In the second block from our home in the Oak Hill District of Newton Centre a viciously barking dog came charging at us from a dark yard. We stood him off and enjoyed the moonlight for another block when another dog, bigger and louder than the first, came at us. Again, we persuaded him that we were not intruders, that we are home-owners and taxpayers (!) here, and went on our way until the sidewalk (?) ran out.

Some crushed rock had been dumped on what was probably intended to be a path but the shrubs hung over so far and the boughs of the trees hung down so low that walking on it was impossible. We then took to the street which was more like a canyon with cars parked on both sides leaving only a narrow passage-way between.

We put our hope for safety in a large, newly painted S L O W sign but our sense of security was suddenly shattered when some illiterate motorist came bearing down upon us at race track speed.

All-in-all, it was an exciting and challenging adventure but one scarcely to be recommended to a middle-aged couple who sally forth anticipating a peaceful walk in "The Garden City." Actually, it is barely less barbarous than the African jungle.

Sincerely yours,

Sam Hedrick

Norman S. Rabb Interreligious Affairs Head

Norman S. Rabb of West Newton, prominent communal leader and business executive of Boston, has been appointed national chairman of the Interreligious Affairs Committee.

This committee is the policy making body which guides the American Jewish Committee's Department of Interreligious Affairs.

Mr. Rabb, who recently retired as senior vice president and vice chairman of the board of directors of Stop and Shop, Inc., is now director and consultant to the company. He is a member of the board of governors of the American Jewish Committee and president of the New England Region.

Barkin

served as vice-chairman of the committee and now is its chairman.

Attorney Barkin served as the 1965 Easter Seal Chairman for Newton and for many years was the Oak Hill advance gifts chairman for the United Fund. He also has been prominent in the lawyers' division of the Combined Jewish Appeal. He and his family are members of Temple Emanuel.

Attorney General Edward W. Brooke recently named Barkin as special assistant attorney general to serve in connection with the recodification of the State's highway laws.

Before moving to Newton, Barkin was a town meeting member in Brookline for four years. He served as an assistant attorney general under the late George Fingold, specializing in zoning and municipal law.

On numerous occasions Barkin has appeared on matters before the Board of Aldermen, the Planning Board and the Board of Zoning Appeals.

Recently, he represented Action for Mental Health, in Newton, Inc., in successfully obtaining a zoning variance so that organization could begin its operation in its new quarters on Walnut street in Newtonville.

Attorney Barkin pointed to these activities as among his qualifications for service on the Board of Aldermen.

"Aside from problems besetting the city as a whole, there are issues peculiar to Ward 8 such as the future development of the Sylvania property, the need for more direct access roads to Newton Centre from Oak Hill to relieve traffic on Wheeler Road, Parker Street and the Brandeis Road area, more traffic control by police due to the tremendous increase in the area of teen and adult drivers and improved recreational facilities for children and adults alike," Barkin declared.

Mr. Barkin, 41, is married to the former Thelma Mann and is the father of two children, Marjorie, 17, who graduated from Newton South High School and is entering Smith College this fall, and Daniel, 11, who is in the seventh grade at the Meadowbrook Junior High School.

Music School Opens Season September 30

The All Newton Music School, a not for profit institution, will open its 55th season on September 30. The Music School, which moved last February to its beautiful enlarged quarters on 321 Chestnut Street, has over the summer added more studio space in order to be ready for an increased demand.

In addition to the teaching of all the strings, woodwinds, brass instruments, percussion, harp, voice, recorder, and guitar, the School emphasizes its musicianship classes, to which every student enrolled in an instrumental program is entitled free of charge.

Those classes (on many different levels) endeavor to teach the technic of reading music without the help of an instrument and writing down music heard.

Classical ballet and modern dance classes are offered to children and adults.

It was announced that Carolyn Panasevich will teach French Horn at the school this season.

Newton Grid Buddies Seek Crimson Berths

A pair of Newton High reporting for Harvard's pre-teammates were among the season football drills which more than 100 candidates began September 1.

Steve Crosby, a linebacker from Newton, and Joe DeBettencourt, a tackle from West Newton, will be trying to win varsity berths as the Crimson prepares to open its 91st grid season against Holy Cross at the stadium on Sept. 25.

"With the return of platoon football, a lot of new faces will have to come through for us if we want to become contenders against this season," says Head Coach John Yovicin. The Crimson has a nucleus of 16 returning lettermen.

Crosby, a 5-10, 185 pound junior, and DeBettencourt, a 6-2, 205 pound sophomore, are defensive specialists and former teammates at Newton High in 1962.

Harvard has been in the

New Newton Folder Shows City Highlights

The Newton Chamber of Commerce has produced an eight-page and well illustrated folder bearing the title "Newton, Massachusetts," and with "Quality and Excellence at the Apex of New England's Mobility" as its sub-title.

Stressing the city's position at the "apex of mobility," the cover depicts the ramps of the Massachusetts Turnpike that funnel traffic from the toll road into Route 128 and the city's thoroughfares at Auburndale.

With pictures and text, the pamphlet describes Newton's liveability, educational facilities, heritage, government, commerce and industry and its facilities for accomodating and transporting its many visitors.

A total of 15,000 copies of the pamphlet have been printed and will be distributed to residents and visitors alike in answer to hundreds of requests that are received each week.

A copy will be mailed to anyone requesting it by calling the Chamber at 527-4650.

Senior Carlsons Are Feted By College On Anniversary

The campus at Mount Ida Junior College in Newton was the scene recently of a rather special event when over one hundred friends, relatives, and former students gathered to honor President-Emeritus and Mrs. William F. Carlson, of Newton, on the occasion of their fiftieth wedding anniversary.

Present for this surprise party were the Senior Carlsons' three sons, Paul, Edward, and Roy, their families, members of the administrative staff and faculty of Mount Ida. Also former students of the college, and a number of life-long friends of the couple, some of whom had come from as far away as Palm Beach, Florida, where the Carlsons now make their winter home.

Commenting on all this, Dr. William Carlson had this to say, "It isn't often a person can find so much to be thankful for. Here Mrs. Carlson and I are, healthy and happy, surrounded by family and friends, and secure in the knowledge that our dear Mount Ida will continue long after our time in the capable hands of our son, Dr. F. Roy Carlson, and his capable staff of which we are so proud. Indeed, I am truly grateful and so is my wife."

Previously been for many years a girl's finishing school.

Today Mount Ida is a flour- ishing junior college for women with some six hundred students hailing from all over the world. It has an 85-acre campus which once was the Robert Gould Shaw estate and is today one of the most attractive women's colleges in America.

Jacques,

Apparel for Gentlemen

Almost unbelievable! That's the expected reaction to a special Back-to-Fair offering at Jacques. Or as our old French instructor would have it: se-tamposseebuh!

But here it is, a crowd-pleaser if we've ever seen one: Jacques offers a $45 men's sport coat in Harris Tweed or Shetland fabrics, and a pair of smart-looking $15.95 slacks... both for $49.50!

That's right... only $49.50 for both well-tailored items that will give you a leg up on the new Fall season. What good looks... what values... only at Jacques!

The project comes under the Chapter 91 head, with the state paying half its cost, and it involves cleaning, widening and lining Paul Brook from Oak Hill to beyond Parker St., Newton Centre, and the unlined part of South Meadow Brook from Parker St. to Dedham St., Newton Highlands.

Permanent and temporary easements will be taken—permanent where work must be done on slopes, temporary ones that will be released after completion of the work. In all cases, Pratt explains, area occupied by the easement will be restored to its original condition so far as possible.

In urging residents to return easement forms as soon as possible, the public works director had made an explanation as follows: "Since the work is being done to minimize the possibility of flooding in your area, we are forwarding a form to you and the mortgagee, which releases the city from all claims for damages, except for negligence."

garet Fuller Settlement House in Cambridge.

She has been active in community affairs since coming to Newton 16 years ago.

Her activities have included service as vice-president of the Clafin School PTA, vice-president of the Newton PTA Council and chairman of its conference, "The Revolution in Education."

Mrs. Mintz has served as a member of the Board of Directors of the Newton League of Women Voters and the State League. She also has served on the boards of the Newton Taxpayers Association, the World Affairs Council, the American Jewish Committee, the Newton Community Centre and the Newton Civic Association.

Long active in the field of education, Mrs. Mintz served on former Superintendent Harold Gore's committee to study secondary schools, was a member of the planning committee of Newton's White House Conference on Education and steering committee of the Teacher Utilization Study.

"It has been a privilege to serve on the Newton School Committee," Mrs. Mintz declared in announcing her candidacy for reelection. "Newton is a community where a strong educational system has long been of primary importance. Consequently, the base on which we continue to build is a solid one," she said.

"Because we live in a rapidly changing society with a vastly expanding body of knowledge and because we must educate young people to be productive in a more complex world than we have ever known, it is essential that our school systems continue to adapt to the needs of the times.

"In the coming years we must give continued attention to several important areas. Curriculum development must go forward with emphasis on the individual nature of the learning process. The role of the teacher must continue to evolve so as to allow for greater professional growth.

Salary schedules must be reviewed to insure that Newton remains in a competitive position to attract and retain superior teachers. Expansion of some school services is necessary, particularly libraries and guidance, but also in the areas of the arts, music and physical education. Attention must be given to updating our technical-vocational program," Mrs. Mintz concluded.

The school building program is moving forward with six major projects scheduled for the next three years. However, it is imperative that every effort be made to expedite the Newton High School with full cooperation by all City departments concerned," she stressed.

"As a taxpayer I am fully aware of the impact of school and other city spending on Newton's burdened real estate tax. Therefore, I have regularly evaluated our school budgets to satisfy myself that the funds invested in education have been well spent and promise to yield a high return in educational results," Mrs. Mintz concluded.

Mr. Mintz is a member of the Board of Directors of the Newton Junior College, the Association for Mental Health in Newton, and the National Committee for the Support of the Public Schools. She resides with her husband Richard G. Mintz and their two daughters at 50 Beaumont Ave., Newtonville.

Political Highlights

would raise at least $200 million in new taxes must be adopted, but they are still in sharp disagreement as to how that $200 million should be raised.

Volpe wants to include some form of limited sales tax in any compromise plan he sponsors.

Donahue declares, in effect, that the sales tax is not acceptable to him in any way, shape or form and that he would oppose a tax package which contains one.

How this stalemate will ultimately be resolved is uncertain.

Present indications are that Volpe can get his sweetened up tax plan with limited sales tax through the House of Representatives.

A lot of Democratic legislators, especially those from home-owning districts, are feeling the pressure from constituents demanding that something be done to lower real estate tax bills.

Unless a program is enacted which reduces real estate taxes next year, quite a few law-makers are likely to find themselves out of office after the next election.

While Volpe has no shortage of problems of his own, he appears to be in the strongest

He can support an alternate tax plan on the ground that it is better than Volpe's tax program. But having voted for a sales tax, he can't realistically oppose a sales tax on the ground that it is bad in and of itself.

Donahue has supported a responsible tax program which would furnish substantial help for the cities and towns. The weakness in his position is that the tax plan he is backing apparently can't get through the Democratic-controlled House.

Speaker Davoren, incidentally, has come in for some unwarranted criticism as feeling has mounted during the tax row. Some persons who blasted the late John F. Thompson for running roughshod in the House and ruling the body with an iron hand have been lambasting Davoren for not doing what they criticized Thompson for doing.

When you hear or read of Davoren being rapped for not providing stronger leadership in the House in the tax controversy, it usually means the critic feels that Davoren hasn't been twisting arms or knocking heads to get votes for or against a tax program.

Actually, this isn't the kind of situation where Davoren should try to impose his will on the rank and file of Democratic House members.

A lot of Democratic law-makers will stand or fall in next year's primary and election on the votes they cast on the various tax plans.

As matters presently shape up, a sizeable number of them are likely to fall, especially if no tax plan is finally enacted.

If the battle of taxes had ended on the day all three tax plans went down the drain in the House, the turn-over in that body next year probably would have been staggering.

Boston residents will not be the only ones who will suffer if industries move out of their city because of the high tax rate.

While the big hike in the Boston tax rate came as a great shock to many persons, the fact is that Mayor Collins had issued one warning after another that this would happen if the city were not given a new source of revenue and meaningful financial help.

Yet, some law-makers voted for the tax program which would hit their constituents hardest and do the least to help them. That's a real act of political bravery. It might even prove to be political suicide.

Then, there were some legislators—even from home-owning districts—who pushed their heads deeply into the sand and voted against all tax plans and any form of relief for the home-owner and rent-payer.

These usually are the demagogues, who vote to spend money, vote against providing the money to pay the bills and then issue pious statements about being against taxes and stressing their deep concern for the home-owner and rent-payer.

What has been surprising during the tax fight is that some Democratic legislators have paid no attention whatever to the sentiment expressed by the people they represent.

The successful politician usually keeps his finger as close as possible to the public pulse and responds to what he hears.

But the results of polls and surveys showing that the people prefer a limited sales tax to any other means of raising revenue for the cities and towns seem to have made little impression on the Democratic legislators.

One Boston law-maker even went to the trouble and expense of sending postcards to his constituents to ascertain what kind of tax program they preferred.

Two-thirds of those who answered said they favored a limited sales tax.

So the legislator voted against a sales tax when the bill came up in the House.

As it turned out, he had a plausible explanation for his Observe the rules of the nautical road on the waters of our Commonwealth, urges Wilton Vaugh, State Director of Motorboats. Keep to the right when moving in channels. Give the boat on the right the right of way. You have the right of way over the boat on the left. Sailboats have the right of way except when overtaking another boat. Under a new international law, small boats must not hamper the movement of larger boats in narrow channels.

Stephen Cutler, 14, of 944 Centre St., Newton Centre, recent victim of a mountain-climbing accident, will have a cast on his right ankle for six weeks, but is recuperating and in fine fettle.

The boy was descending from the summit of Camel's Hump, one of Vermont's highest mountains, when the rough trail and recent rains combined to create treacherous footing, with a fractured ankle the result.

With the aid of an improvised stretcher and piggyback carries, his father, Dr. Edwin Cutler, and two Barre, Vt., cousins, managed to get the lad about a mile down trail to their car, and then to the local physician for treatment.

Starting on Tuesday, Oct.

All of Newton's public schools — two high schools, five junior highs and 25 elementaries — open for the 1965-66 year on Monday, Sept. 13.

On Tuesday, Sept. 7, the new teachers began the traditional orientation week for new faculty members, and today two days later, Thursday, Sept. 9, the other teachers will report.

The Newton Teachers Association has been working since last June on the program for orientation week.

Assisting Miss Helen M. Ryan, NTA president, were Richard Durkin, Joan Keenan, Ella Gay and Marie Fox, among others.

On Wednesday a breakfast for teachers and administrative personnel was held at Newton South High School. Supt. of Schools Charles E. Brown, Dr. James Lauritz, assistant superintendent for personnel; Dr. Edward A. Landy, assistant superintendent for pupil personnel service and special education; and Dr. J. Bernard Everett, assistant superintendent for instruction spoke. Also greeting the newcomers was Miss Ryan.

Secondary school teachers then inspected their new classrooms and elementary teachers met in grade-level groups.

Thursday will find the new teachers joined by some 800 of their colleagues who will assemble at 9 a.m. for a coffee hour at Newton High School, followed by the general faculty meeting. Dr. Brown will be the speaker.

Additional meetings on Friday between principals and faculty will bring the orientation week to a close.

Solon Urges Federal Funds For Youth Center In Newton

Representative Joseph G. Bradley of Newton today requested Mayor Donald L. Gibbs to make an immediate inquiry into the feasibility of acquiring Federal funds for the erection of a Youth Center in Newton.

Representative Bradley sent a letter to Mayor Gibbs which contained information received from the Federal Housing Administration in Washington, D.C., during a recent visit to that city by Bradley as vice-chairman of the special legislative committee on low cost housing.

The Newton representative spent considerable time with representatives of the F.H.A.

Most of the meetings related to the problems of adequate housing and the effects of the new housing law just passed by Congress. During the course of the meetings, it was brought to light that one of the provisions in the new law provided for Federal Grants to erect recreational facilities in cities and towns.

Section 703 provides for reimbursement by the Federal Government of up to 75% of the development costs of recreational facilities. There are certain minimum requirements which must be met but Bradley is sure that these are but minor obstacles in the way of what could be the solving of one of Newton's most pressing problems, sufficient recreational facilities for Junior Citizens.

"I hope that the administration will avail themselves of this opportunity to make Newton a better place to live. I stand ready to assist in any way to make the erection of a Newton Youth Center a reality. I have also given this information to Judge Julian Yesley and his committee for a Newton Youth Center in order that they may evaluate its effects on their planning", Bradley said.

It will be the largest assemblage of international lawyers ever brought together for this purpose.

A previous convocation was held in July, 1963, in Athens. It is hoped that these international conferences will be held bi-annually.

Following are some of the subjects to be discussed at the Washington meeting: International courts, space law, transnational trade and investment, arbitration tribunals and human rights.

Herman Dodson, esteemed loyal knight, has appointed Sam MacDonald chairman. He will be assisted by Robert Hartel, committee treasurer, and Fred Rogers, Stephen O'Brien, Robert Becker and Michael Hough.

All Newton members will be competing for the Sid Campbell Memorial Trophy. The winner's name will be engraved on the trophy and a replica of the Paul Revere Bowl will be presented him.

All visiting Elks and guests are invited to participate.

Election Board Is Target of Protest

A Newton resident has filed a strong protest with Secretary of State Kevin White, charging "negligence" in the office of the Newton Election Commissioner.

Twenty-one-year-old Theodore H. Schell, 231 Ward street, Newton Centre, wrote to Secretary White that he went to the Office of Election Commissioner Arthur Heaney "for the purpose of filing an application for an absentee ballot." Schell, a college student, will be absent from the city on Election Day, Nov. 2.

"Having filed my application," Schell wrote, "I asked what I thought to be an innocent question of the secretary in charge: 'When will I be receiving my ballot?' The reply given was quite disconcerting, for she answered: 'Well, two years ago we didn't even bother to send out ballots. We got involved with a referendum and never really had the time'."

In his letter to White, the Newton student also related that he "had been told by a friend who worked in the mail room of Barnard College during the 1964 Presidential Election that the ballots from the City of Newton were not received until the Monday im-

Capitol Columnists Mislead Readers on Governor Battle

A habit of some political columnists is to pontificate and express strong opinions on something they know little or nothing about.

It wasn't really surprising, therefore, that a pair of Washington writers came into Massachusetts for a day and then sent a syndicated column around the nation picturing former Presidential Aide Kenneth O'Donnell as a strong candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

Big Mayoral Guns Starting To Boom

Basbas Sees Need In City For Leaders

City Clerk Monte G. Basbas declared this week that if he is elected Newton's Mayor he will form an executive cabinet "which would function on a regular and continuing basis to assist me in updating Newton's government."

He said he would have municipal department heads serve in the cabinet along with the School Committee Chairman, the School Superintendent and representatives of the Board of Aldermen.

Basbas made the statement at a reception held for him.

"I like to think of Newton as one city - one city made up of a number of villages, one city composed of peoples of many racial, religious and ethnic backgrounds, one city confronted with a variety of complex problems in the areas of education, recreation, library, health and social services, safety and security," Basbas told his listeners.

"To meet the challenges posed by these problems will require combined planning and action from many sources. This cannot be done without vigorous leadership and decisive action on the part of the Mayor . . . a

Carmen Says He Wants To Face Basbas

Alderman William Carmen, who is waging a vigorous fight for election as Newton's next Mayor, charged yesterday that his opponent, City Clerk Monte G. Basbas has refused to debate the campaign issues with him before large Newton audiences.

Carmen declared that he has been endeavoring without success since Aug. 4 to arrange a series of debates with Basbas.

"I thought that I finally had my opponent's commitment to hold debates with the largest possible community coverage," Carmen said. "But when the time came to make the final arrangements, my opponent found that he was too busy to discuss the issues publicly."

Carmen said that attempts to arrange the debates were started Aug. 4 when his campaign coordinator, Frank Magnarelli, wrote to Benjamin F. Shattuck, executive chairman of the Basbas committee.

He asserted that when almost three weeks passed without a reply he wrote directly to Basbas on Aug. 23. Carmen said that three days later on Aug. 26 Basbas re-

They are reminders from the Voters Service Committee of the Newton League of Women Voters.

In addition, letters are being sent to new residents of Newton to welcome them to the community and inform them of registration qualifications and procedures.

Active Burglars Score With City-Wide Breaks

It was another busy and profitable weekend for burglars in Newton, as a host of car thefts, house breaks and other incidents were reported to police.

Housebreaks were reported in six Newton homes and a business firm. The loot included a $2,000 diamond ring, other jewelry, sterling silver, several hundred dollars in cash and other items.

Two automobiles were stolen, one of which was recovered in Boston, while a third car was stripped of many items.

The biggest haul was taken from the home of Sumner Preil, 190 Temple street, West Newton, where the $2,000 ring, a silver tea set, a fur-trimmed sweater and a set of flatware were stolen. The break was discovered Sunday afternoon.

Oscar Cohen, 5 Green park, Newton, reported that $800 and a set of sterling silverware was taken from his home in a break which occurred between 6:45 and 9:00 p.m. Saturday.

A diamond pendant and a diamond wedding ring were taken from the home of Paul Levi, 631 Beacon street, Newton Center. The break occurred sometime between Friday afternoon and Sunday afternoon.

About $500 was stolen in a break at Newton Motor Sales, 773 Washington street, Newtonville, sometime over the weekend. Patrolmen Paul F. Cummings and Gerald A. Lawrence are the investigating officers.

In accepting the position, Mr. Vaccaro praised outgoing president Andrew Carter for the significant gains accomplished during his administration.

He asked all the men of Corpus Christi parish to join with their new elected president and officers in striving to make another successful year of the society.

Mr. Vaccaro has been active in the Holy Name Society for over 15 years. Also active in civic affairs he has served as president of the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce and as a member of the Newton Community Council and Newton Democratic City Committee.

October was designated as "Light Bulb Drive" month. Lions will visit the people of Newton in a house-to-house campaign at which time they will sell light bulbs to Newton residents. A goal of $3,000 has been set to support the club's activities.

A "White Cane" drive will be conducted for eye research. Coin banks will be placed in strategic locations where people can place their donations. Each person making a contribution will receive a small white cane pin as a token of appreciation.

Boayjian announced that the board of directors voted to sponsor a glaucoma clinic for the city. The time and place will be announced at a later date. The clinic is designed to detect eye disease in its early stages in order to prevent blindness.

A special fund raising program will be held in April, 1966. It is expected that all the money raised will be allotted to the eye research fund.

It was also announced that $123,500 was given to eye research in the State by the Massachusetts Lions Eye Research Fund. The money was awarded to support six research programs.

Dr. Robert Kirschbaum of 287 Commonwealth Avenue, Chestnut Hill, was appointed representative to meet with the Catholic Guild for the Blind to see in what ways the club can assist the Guild. Wil-

Alderman In
George White

The Board of Aldermen voted approval of a resolution presented last Monday night by Ward 3 Alderman Paul J. Burke on the passing of a member of the city's Planning Board and Park Commission.

The resolution was as follows:

"Whereas: On Sept. 7 the city of Newton lost a member of the Newton Planning Board and Park Commission in the death of George L. White "And whereas: George L. White has been a member of the Planning Board from 1963 to the present and a member of the Park Commission from 1964 to date. He was president of the board of governors of Newton-Wellesley Hospital where he was currently heading its 'Crisis 1965' fund raising drive. He had served as president of the Newton Chamber of Commerce in 1963-64, and as treasurer and director of the Newton Community Council and the Newton Community Chest. He was a member of the American, Massachusetts and Boston Bar Associations and the Brae Burn Country Club.

"And whereas: It is fitting and proper that this Board of Aldermen representing the citizens of Newton express their sympathy for the loss of George L. White, and record their appreciation for his faithful service to the city.

"Now therefore be it resolved: That the members of the Board express their condolences to the family of George L. White and sincere gratitude for his services to the city and its citizens; and that a copy of this resolution be included in the permanent records of this Board and a copy be sent to his family."

The vote of acceptance of the resolution was unanimous, and made while the members were still standing during the reading of it by Alderman Burke.

plied that he was "anxious to discuss with you publicly the issues of the campaign."

Carmen quoted Basbas as going on to say that because both candidates already were busy "the only practical approach is for us to agree upon a somewhat limited number of meetings but to attempt to arrange them at such times and places and with such organizations as will give these meetings the largest possible community coverage."

Alderman Carmen charged that despite that statement, the City Clerk had rejected proposals that the meetings be held in Newton's largest auditoriums.

"My opponent's idea of the largest possible community coverage seems to be limited to an elementary school PTA meeting with the discussion restricted to an educational issue, a breakfast held by the Brotherhood of a religious organization, and a breakfast held by a businessman's organization," Carmen alleged.

Carmen said that Basbas' representative turned down a proposal that debates be held at the two high schools where large audiences could be accommodated.

"This entire attitude of my opponent has been expressed since last April from which time he has refused time and again any number of invitations issued by Newton organizations to speak before their membership if I was also extended the courtesy of a simultaneous invitation," Carmen stated.

Carmen has called for an increase in the Newton police department to cope with the wave of house breaks and thefts.

The candidates have a duty to the voters to see to it that the issues are discussed as fully and widely as possible. The voters have a right to know where both candidates stand," Carmen continued.

"Friendly coffee hours before limited audiences, without the give and take of debate and without press coverage, are not enough to give the voters the information they need," he said.

"I am willing to make whatever changes in my schedule are needed to make these debates possible," Carmen asserted.

"I am not afraid to engage in a public discussion of public issues," he emphasized.

"Will my opponent join me?" Carmen asked.

Lawrence G. Laskey of West Newton has been named as treasurer of Carmen's campaign committee.

Laskey is widely known as a member of many business, social, fraternal and religious organizations.

He has been a motion picture exhibitor for 25 years.

Alderman Carmen has declared that it is "time for action" on many important questions facing Newton residents.

He asserts that the tax problem is one of the major campaign issues, pointing out that Newton's tax rate has increased more than $45 in the last two years.

Carmen has said he will "hold the line to end excessive taxation by encouraging the construction of new taxable property in the city and by the introduction of better business practices in the municipal government.

Newton's current tax rate,

Carmen said, is the heaviest per capita rate for any Massachusetts city with a population of over 70,000.

Carmen has called for an increase in the Newton police department to cope with the wave of house breaks and thefts.

The appointment of several special chairmen were announced this week to Carmen's campaign committee. They are: Director of Research, Robert Romero, Directors of Special Projects, Glenn Shriberg and Richard Reynolds; Headquarters Chairman, Edward Goldstein, Roger Morrocco and Robert Mullen; Transportation Chairman, Jack Morrissey; Assistant Transportation Chairman, Erwin Beale; Finance Chairman, Joseph Sneider; Voter Registration Chairman, Mrs. Maurice Evans; Chairman of Youth Volunteers, Kenneth Kasarjian.

The primary company, made up of boys and girls 9 1/2 through 8 years of age will train in elocution, music and dancing while preparing their production and the intermediate company for young ladies and gentlemen ages 9 through 14 will experience more advanced techniques in dramatic interpretations and adaptations by creating for the levels of their abilities.

Every youngster will be encouraged to use the best of each one's talents.

This semester, costuming will be included in both groups so that parents, especially mothers, will not have to become involved in a last minute rush experienced by many in programs of this type.

He also called for the establishment of a Citizens Relations office to provide "one stop" service for citizens seeking information or help at City Hall.

Plans for easing the tax burden on home-owners and for more direct citizen involvement in studying the General Plan recently prepared by the Planning Department before any action is taken on it by the city, also were urged by Kritzman.

Kritzman is a professional community consultant who has spent his adult life in community service working with and for people. His work with citizens participation in the planning process of government has received national attention.

Long active in Massachusetts political life, he was elected State Representative from the 14th Suffolk District. He was also elected on a statewide ballot as a Presidential Elector from Massachusetts.

As a legislator, he pioneered much social legislation now very much part of the community. He was the first legislator in the state to introduce legislation to outlaw discrimination in employment.

Kritzman also instituted much legislation in the area of higher education and proposed a study of life insurance premium setting which focused attention on life companies use of outdated life-expectancy tables in computing premiums.

He was one of three legislators in the country to propose a health insurance program under Social Security for the elderly long before Congressional action and was the first in the state to propose a statewide program of health services for the elderly.

Kritzman expresses the strong belief that the "complex problems facing today's Voters should remember that no matter how nice or well-intentioned an alderman may be, his effectiveness on his constituents behalf depends on his ability and experience in the complicated process of government.

Drop-out Problem Grows

In Newton, as in other communities across the country, the new school term has shifted into high gear and has headed down the long road to next June's graduations. It is impressive to note that close to 17,000 young people should be returning to high school.

But President Johnson has called attention to the fact that thousands of them won't.

He estimates that during the coming school year, this nation will again see more than 750,000 boys and girls drop out of school before receiving their high school diploma.

That figure will begin accumulating with the youngsters who will not even return to school for the term now started. We trust that the sum total of the awesome figure will not be contributed to from Newton.

There was a time, in this country, when a young person could leave school with a limited educational background and still have a reasonable expectation of building a rewarding work career.

But such, unfortunately, is no longer the case. An Horatio Alger rise from poverty to riches without benefit of book or classroom belongs to a distant and nostalgic past.

Our hapless young drop-outs are being made increasingly aware that the number of unskilled jobs in America declines with each passing year. The kinds of jobs being newly created almost all require the minimal preparation of a high school education.

In a highly advanced economic and job structure such as ours, there soon will be little room for the worker without a high school education. That fact must be driven home to young people in Newton, in the Commonwealth and the Nation.

The dangerous drop-out age is the 16 to 17 year old bracket. Six out of ten of the nation's school dropouts are in this age group. Most of them, unhappily, are not aware of the fact that their future job prospects are indeed drab.

So serious is the problem that President Johnson has announced a major campaign to get young Americans to return to school. He appointed Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey to direct the campaign.

Employers, unions, civic, trade and religious organizations and state and local governments are being asked to exert whatever influence they can to encourage our youngsters to stay in school.

The campaign is being enthusiastically received across the nation. This is right. The drop-outs problem is a serious one. It is here now and must be solved now. This is the time to act.

Good Kids Make News, Too

The Graphic received a compliment or two after a recent edition because we gave prominent front page display to stories of good deeds being performed by responsible, dedicated local youngsters.

This newspaper always is appreciative of the better kind of headlines being made by our teenagers. Thus, we reported the inspiring story of five Newton young people commended for outstanding vacation-time service as volunteers in a hospital, with a photo of one of them hard at work. A similar story appears in this week's Graphic.

We also gave Page One prominence to the story of a young local girl who left for Africa and two years of work with the Peace Corps. Yes, good kids make news, too. We are proud and pleased to print it.

Newton, in company with all American communities, can point to thousands of youngsters who are growing into young adulthood normally and without being snarled up with the highly-touted problems of adolescence.

The transition from boy and girlhood to young man and womanhood isn't an easy one. It wasn't fifty years ago and it isn't today. Neither is birth or death, and the slow decline into senility.

But they are the changing patterns of life which are faced with courage and confidence by responsible individuals. They cannot be avoided, neither are their problems simplified by irrational acts and fits of violence. These latter seem to be the solution sought by so many teen-agers.

Let our youngsters be made aware of the fact that problems are not unique to them. All of us have them, have had them over the years, and expect to meet others as long as we are blessed with life itself.

Young people such as those mentioned recently in the news columns of The Graphic make the transition from one aspect of life to another easier by serving others, their community, their country.

They inspire good news stories, make fine headlines, because they serve. In an age of super-prosperity, pampered adults and spoiled kids, they are of sterner stuff. They subjugate self by dedicated concern for others.

Look beyond the screaming headlines which shout the misdeeds and follies of the minority teen population which seeks the course of violence and brutality. Look to the great army of upstanding young citizens in the background. They have life and all its situations well in hand—also their country's future.

We all owe them a very special thanks and our prayers that they will continue on the true course to future good citizenship, and a good life.

Aldermen Confirm Gibbs' Appointment Of Lurensky

Action by the Board of Aldermen during their regular meeting Monday night included confirmation of Mayor Donald L. Gibbs' appointment of David A. Lurensky, 35 Woodlawn Dr., Chestnut Hill, as a member of the Planning Board for a period of three years beginning Oct. 1, to fill a vacancy due to the expiration of the term of Karl H. Brock.

Mr. Lurensky, associated since 1947 with the meat packing industry in administrative and financial capacities, was the principal organizer of the new market complex in Newmarket Square, Boston, and a former treasurer of the Massachusetts Wholesale Food Terminal.

He is a member of the Newton High School PTA Board, and was recently appointed a member of Local Draft Board No. 117. In World War II he served with the rank of captain in the U. S. Army Air Force.

Alderman Burke reported that he and Alderman Andrew J. Magni, comprising the two-man committee appointed to determine whether it was the Board's prerogative to suggest that the Albermarle swimming pool be named in memory of the last Harry "Sonny" Gath, Newtonville restauranteur who, during his life, worked diligently in the interest of the youth of the city, had been advised by the city solicitor that it was fit and proper for the Board to do so. The Board then voted to refer the matter of naming the pool to the Building Committee.

Following the addition of three conditions to the restrictions previously imposed, the Board voted approval of the petition of Luther Paul Company for extensive changes and improvements to its oil business complex at 57 Paul street, Newton Centre. At the previous Board meeting, Alderman Ernest F. Dietz had moved for reconsideration of the Luther Paul matter, and Monday night he introduced the additional conditions, which were as follows:

1. The garage as shown on a plan of Luther Paul Company dated October 26, 1964, and filed with Petition No. 393-65 shall be used as a "private garage" only, as defined in Section 25-1 of the zoning ordinance of the City of Newton.

2. Commercial vehicles in excess of 2 tons, not engaged in the conduct of coal or fuel oil operations, shall not be parked on the premises at any time.

3. Within 18 months after receiving a building permit to construct buildings shown on filed plan, the petitioner shall vacate and demolish all presently existing structures except dwelling houses on the petitioner's land easterly of the land shown on the filed plan, and shall not make use of this land for its coal and oil operations.

Dietz stated that the conditions had been reviewed by the planning director, the city solicitor and the chairman of the committee on claims and rules.

An additional appropriation of $1755, requested by the commissioner of public buildings to cover relocation of a building on the Newton Upper Falls Playground, to which abutters had objected because of its location in front of their homes, was approved by vote of the Board.

Approved was a request by Water Commissioner Mark F. Croker for an appropriation of $8275 for installation of 537 feet of water main in Rumford Ave., from Lexington St. to the site of the new incinerator. It was brought out that the existing pipe there is inadequate for the protection of the incinerator against fire.

Also approved were two other appropriation requests by the water commissioner. One was $1288 for water main extension on Kippy Dr., Waban, a project toward which its petitioners have paid $938. The other was for $2170 for a water main extension in Marla Cir., Newton Centre. Contributions on this project were $1820. In both instances, the extensions were sought for service to two new houses.

Two recommendations of City Solicitor Matt B. Jones were accepted. One was that the $3500 limit in the settlement of claims account in his office be raised to $8000. The other asked for $4000 to pay expenses incurred by Fireman Kimball M. Malone for injuries in the line of duty.

Approved were transfers requested by Public Welfare Director George S. Wattendorf, $5000 from the disability assistance to the aid of dependent children account, and $8000 from the medical assistance account for aid to families with dependent children.

Golden Text For Science Service On This Sunday

"Lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal" (Matthew 6:20).

This passage from the Bible will be the Golden Text for all Christian Science churches on Sunday. The subject of the Lesson-Sermon is "Matter," and it will feature the story of Job.

Quotations to be read from the Christian Science textbook include the following: "Job said: 'I have heard of Thee by the hearing of the ear; but now mine eye seeth Thee.' Mortals will echo Job's thought, when the supposed pain and pleasure of matter cease to predominate. They will then drop the false estimate of life and happiness, of joy and sorrow, and attain the bliss of loving unselfishly, working patiently, and conquering all that is unlike God."

Alderman Candidates Are Urged To Show Restraint

William M. Glosky, Ward 2 Alderman-at-large, took the floor during the meeting of the Board last Monday night to urge all members to exercise restraint in their presentation of resolutions that take time which would better be applied to other matters.

He expressed himself as disturbed by the number of resolutions that have been offered during a period in which many of the Aldermen are candidates for public office.

"We have a natural desire," he said, "to further our candidacy by this means. I feel that we should exercise some judicious restraint, and not introduce proposals that have been prepared in haste and without adequate research."

Glosky explained that in his reference to hastily prepared resolutions and the desire for favorable publicity he was not pointing a finger at any particular member or members of the Board.

His remarks came immediately following the Board's vote of approval for a resolution presented by Alderman Theodore D. Mann, who recommended that the mayor establish a Transportation Advisory Board to study and report on alternative methods and routes for the public transportation service of the citizens of Newton. On this board should be representatives of the Board of Aldermen, Labor, School Department, Cab Owners Association, as well as others so designated by His Honor the Mayor to complete community and village representation. This Advisory Board should meet as often as necessary and not less than twice annually and each year report to the mayor and the Board of Aldermen by the 31st of December."

Alderman Mann's research incidental to his proposal included a meeting with the Taxi Owners Association of Newton, described in the following letter from him to City Solicitor Matt B. Jones:

"In an attempt to continue public transportation to those areas of Newton which may be cut off by the M&B, I have met with the Taxi Owners Association of Newton, and they have agreed that they will furnish public transportation on certain routes at fixed fares.

"It may be that the vehicle used will be an unmarked station wagon — unmarked except for a sign that will indicate that the vehicle is participating in the above described program.

However, he explained, the Alderman had withdrawn the proposal after it was pointed out to him that the city was already operating under two existing housing codes, and that the mayor has appointed a special committee that includes representatives of the Board of Aldermen, to review the whole area of housing codes.

Glosky concluded by reiterating that his remarks were not the result of action by any particular member of the Board, and saying that he was mindful that any candidate for office is alert for any opportunity to gain publicity, and that "we ought to be careful."

The resolution presented by Alderman Mann and accepted by vote of the Board was as follows:

"Whereas: Public transportation is essential to the convenience of the citizens of our community and for the past several years public transpor-

Rep. Mann Seeks Solons' Support For Legislation

The following names of Newton residents have been placed on a civil service list of persons eligible for the rating of senior clerk and senior clerk-typist in the employ of the State Department of Education:

Maurice J. Polner, 214 Cabot St., Newtonville, Drucilla C. Sullivan, 37 Truman Rd., Newton Centre, and Jacqueline B. Rundlett, 174 Webster St., West Newton.

The Resolve filed by Mann, and adopted last Friday by the Massachusetts House, requests action by Congress to provide for riot-insurrection insurance in somewhat the same manner as the war risk insurance in force during World War II.

Mann revealed that he had dispatched telegrams to the state's congressional delegation urging their support for federal coverage.

"This is most urgently required," Mann declared. "I hope that fast action by Congress will assure all citizens of the nation of protection from any losses that may occur from such outbreaks as the recent tragic one in Los Angeles."

Mayor who can enlist the support of our city employees and executives, elected officials and our many talented citizens who can contribute so much to help, "he said.

"My approach has many applications. We have not often enough conducted our city government on a one city concept. For instance, we must constantly endeavor to improve the coordination and planning between city hall officials and school authorities. Our aim should be to prevent an atmosphere of contention.

As Mayor I would seek to develop a better appreciation of the interrelationship between school and city. Our recreation and library programs and our financial planning cannot be considered independently of our schools any more than our school planning can properly be considered independent of the balance of our city administration.

"I do not seek to undermine the independent authority of our School Committee, but I do intend to foster a better mutual understanding of the interdependence of all municipal functions and a higher degree of joint endeavor toward the achievement of common goals," Basbas asserted.

"There are a host of recreation facilities serving school age children. Some of these are operated by the School Department; some by the Recreation Department, and certain responsibilities in this area are borne by the Public Works and Public Buildings Departments. The best interests of the whole city can be served only if the activities of these departments are more closely coordinated.

Such coordination can be achieved only through the personal leadership of the Mayor. A similar situation exists in the administration of our library system, both school and public, where strong leadership from the Mayor could have equally effective results," City Clerk Basbas stated.

"Newton as one city has one budget for school and all other municipal purposes. Newton as one city has the same sources of revenue for all its municipal services, including schools. The operating costs of our schools represent approximately 40% of our total expenditures. This does not include costs of construction or maintenance of school buildings. It is evident, therefore, that fiscal planning for our schools plays a major part in total fiscal planning.

"Operating the government of a city with a $30,000,000 annual budget, with two high schools, five junior high schools, 25 grade schools and a junior college with 300 miles of streets, 25,000 homes, with over 3,000 municipal employees, is no simple matter. "We must bring all the city's forces to bear on the many complex problems factoring us. To do this we must adopt new techniques and approaches. In my 14 years of day to day experiences in Newton government it has frequently seemed to me that we have been relying on a horse and buggy to carry us in an age of jet propulsion."

Basbas said.

"This does not mean that I intend to impair the responsibility of department heads for the operation of their departments. I also recognize the independent authority of the School Committee and the Board of Aldermen. But no Mayor can be effective in his leadership of the city, without the close cooperation and support of his department heads and the elected officials of the city. For many years I have maintained a successful working relationship with all city departments and the elected representative bodies.

"The endorsement of my candidacy by the overwhelming majority of the city's elected officials is most gratifying. It is a clear indication that I will have their cooperation in making the Mayor's office a dynamic force for decision making and progress. This support is especially meaningful because it is representative of the entire city, not only in a geographic sense but in every other sense as well.

"We do not want solutions to pressing needs delayed because of differences among city agencies. We shall seek to employ every legitimate means to have all agencies work in harmony and intelligent understanding. Perhaps one of the most pressing problems facing the city at the present time is the construction of a new high school on the north side of the city. We are committed to the construction of a new Newton High School, but the fulfillment of that commitment has been frustrated by the inability of the various agencies involved to agree upon a site. We are also committed to the construction of a new central library. Here again we have been bogged down by differences of opinion as to site.

"The solutions to problems of this type are not easy. But such solutions can and must be found. The answers can be obtained only by hammering out an agreement among all interested parties. This will require getting all interested parties seated around the same table until the answers are determined. Only the Mayor can do this," Basbas said.

Lloyd S. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith, 149 Greenwood St., Newton Centre, a June graduate of Newton High School and honor student there, has entered the freshman class at Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Penn.

Political Highlights

The column even discussed the possibility of another battle between the Kennedys and the McCormacks, with Senator Edward M. Kennedy backing O'Donnell and House Speaker John W. McCormack supporting his nephew, former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack.

This would be ludicrous except that the column apparently was taken seriously by some of its readers.

From all the reports this observer has been able to gather, the fight for the Democratic endorsement for Governor is between McCormack and former Senator President Maurice A. Donahue, and Kenny O'Donnell is so far back he's out of sight.

Senator Ted Kennedy has not given any inkling as to what part, if any, he will take in the clash for the right to run as the Democratic candidate for Governor.

One report has indicated that he will remain neutral, another that he will back Senate President Donahue at the Democratic State Convention. Some persons close to Ted Kennedy say he hasn't made up his mind what he will do.

If Ted Kennedy involves himself in the Democratic gubernatorial fight, the strong likelihood is that he will support Donahue, not O'Donnell.

There are several reasons for that assumption.

Donahue was Ted Kennedy's floor manager at the 1962 Democratic State Convention where Kennedy defeated McCormack.

Ted Kennedy could either endorse Donahue or maintain a hands-off attitude, but he could hardly support another candidate against Donahue.

While Kenny O'Donnell held a position of some power during the administration of the late President John F. Kennedy, he has had no experience in State government whatever as far as this writer is aware.

Donahue, on the other hand, is a recognized expert on State problems. He has served in the Legislature for the past 15 years and has risen to the presidency of the Senate and one of the most powerful and influential positions on Beacon Hill on the strength of his ability.

Mccormack, of course, served four years as Attorney General and could have had the nomination for Governor in 1962 if he had been willing to accept it. He was not interested in a two-year term in the office.

O'Donnell cannot come anywhere near matching the knowledge of the State government possessed by Donahue and McCormack or by Governor Volpe whom the Democratic nominee presumably will be striving to oust from office.

This writer, incidentally, is one who believes that Donahue has been helped tremendously by the prolonged tax controversy.

Ironically, he'll probably be aided more if he loses his fight than if he wins it.

Claims by some politicos that Donahue will be knocked out of the gubernatorial contention if the tax program he supported is defeated are just nonsense.

ministration was doing nothing about accepting it.

We felt that it would be a good thing to have the Filipinos take over part of the fighting in the jungles of Vietnam and that Senator Saltonstall should look into the matter.

Senator Saltonstall has replied to the column and has forwarded a copy of a report he received from the Defense Department making it plain that he did inquire into the proposition.

Here is Senator Saltonstall's response:

"On glancing through my papers, I noted the column that you wrote following my speech to the joint session of the Legislature. At the time I had asked my staff to make an inquiry to the Defense Department about the status of the Philippine offer of help which we have all read, each of these countries, and

The reply only recently came in, and I thought you might like to have a copy. It is addressed to my son who works for me.

"I think it is interesting that the offer of which we have read so much has not as yet been approved by the Philippine's own Legislature but apparently was made by the Speaker as a private individual and a member of the Research Officers Association of the Philippines.

"Certainly, we want to gather all the help that we can for the United States' efforts to support the South Vietnamese government against the invaders from the north. It is my understanding that the administration is doing everything it can in this line, and, of course, we all wish to support it. But we do have to deal with the established governments in it is my belief that the offers of help should come from government sources."

Then Senator Saltonstall enclosed a report to his office from William C. Hamilton, the Defense Department's Deputy Director of the Far East Region. It said:

"General Roderick has given me your note and the copy of Speaker Pendatun's letter to Secretary Rusk.

"Let me briefly bring you up to date on the situation concerning Philippine aid to Vietnam.

"At present the Philippines have 68 doctors and psychological warfare experts in Vietnam. A bill to provide a much greater magnitude of Philippine participation in Vietnam has been before the Philippine Congress, but has not been endorsed as yet by either the Congress or the President of the Republic of the Philippines.

"The offer made by the ROLP never had the official imprimatur of the Government of the Philippines and therefore could not be acted upon by the United States Government. It would have been as if a private organization offered U.S. troops for duty on foreign soil. The difficulties entailed in maintaining and supporting such a volunteer group without bilateral government arrangements and the mandatory government facilities preclude further consideration of the Pendatun proposal.

"The other suggestion made by Mr. Pendatun, that the U.S. government support 10,000 to 20,000, or even 50,000 Filipino doctors, nurses, engineers, etc." for service in Vietnam is reflective of a much appreciated Philippine sentiment but is otherwise an unrealistic proposal. Individual Filipinos in Vietnam have made most useful contributions, but they simply do not have anything like that number of highly qualified professional people.

"We applaud Speaker Pendatun's enthusiasm, but are are forced to deal with realities as they are."

That would seem to clear up the confusion concerning the offer of Philippine help in Vietnam.

Why you can trust the people who represent World Book.

World Book Encyclopedia gives you a four-day "make-up-your-mind" period to decide.

No pressure. No deals.

You have lots of time to consider your decision.

Your World Book representative will never try to "high-pressure" you into ordering World Book Encyclopedia. He is so confident you will want the very best for your children that he gives you four whole days to weigh your decision—even after you have signed the order. No hurry-up. No stampede. No endless fine print to deceive you. You have plenty of time to discuss with your family what is best for your children. World Book offers you this extra deciding time as extra proof of its unquestioned superiority.

25,000 illustrations (7,300 in color), and 1,900 maps, World Book is the largest-selling encyclopedia in the world. World Book gives you more value for your money and as many as five more volumes than other sets at comparable prices.

World Book representatives are trained to serve your educational needs.

They are persons you can trust, for they are respected members of your community. Your local World Book representative might be a businessman or a housewife, a teacher, a librarian, a church or social worker devoted to better education and higher cultural standards. (Never are they part of an imported high-pressure sales crew.) Carefully selected and intensively trained, your neighborhood World Book representative who calls on you will answer your questions competently and honestly.

There are no deals or subterfuges. Terms are plainly stated.

Established prices for The World Book Encyclopedia and World Book's companion educational products are plainly stated for everyone to see.

World Book offers no "gift" deals, no "ten-year plan," no "you-have-been-selected." World Book representatives are thoroughly trained to adhere to our firm price policy. They are forbidden to sell under any other implication. You will enjoy your visit in your own home with the World Book representative who serves you.

You may ask why "Bedford Yarn" in Natick is carrying coats for misses and women.

WHAT ???

THAT'S RIGHT

We figure that if we can sell 100,000 ball of mohair in a year, that we can sell anything if the value and depth of stock are right. So-o-o, we are now in the coat business in a big way. Come and see the only yarn shop that sells coats.

5 Nights Urged For Registration

A resolution offered by Alderman Paul J. Burke, urging the Election Commission to provide a minimum of five evening registration sessions prior to an election, was adopted Monday night by the Board of Aldermen.

Burke's recommendation was made to the mayor and the commission.

Said the Ward 3 Alderman: "The single night planned by the commission is inadequate, and it is our civic responsibility to encourage voter registration."

The registration deadline for this year's election is Oct. 13.

He is presently a member of the Governing Board of the Newton Community Council, the Budget Committee of the Newton Community Chest and the Executive Board of Action for Mental Health in Newton. He also is a member of the Democratic City Committee and the Ward 5 Democratic Committee.

Kumin has participated in school affairs for many years. He has been president of the Hyde PTA, a member of the PTA Council and chairman of the Sciences Section of a recent city-wide PTA Council educational conference. He currently is program chairman for the Weeks PTA.

He was educated at Harvard University where he received a degree in chemistry in 1943 and at Northeastern University where he did post-graduate work in engineering. He is affiliated with Charles T. Main, Consulting Engineers, Boston.

During World War II he was a research scientist, first at the Underwater Explosives Research Laboratory in Woods Hole and later at the Manhattan atomic weapons project in Los Alamos, N.M. He is an army veteran.

Kumin is a member of several professional societies, including the American Chemical Society, the Society of Plastics Engineers and the Technical Association of the Pulp and Paper Industry.

He is married to the former Maxine Vinokur and is the father of three children, two of whom attend Newton High School, while the third is at Weeks Junior High School.

In announcing his candidacy, Kumin declared that Newton is undergoing a transition from a suburb of Boston to a major urban element of the metropolitan area.

Kumin said that in the years ahead the Board of Aldermen must be flexible enough to deal creatively with many new problems, particularly in the fields of urban renewal, zoning, human relations, public health, recreation and library service.

He said that while the Newton tradition of community government provides an excellent foundation for these tasks, it must not be used to block needed changes.

Temple School Classes Open For Children

Religious School classes at Temple Beth Avodah resumed Sunday School program, the Temple offers a midweek course of study in Hebrew.

The Hebrew School, which meets on Tuesday and Thursday, in the afternoon, started on September 14th.

The Sunday Religious School educational program is based on the curriculum of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, and the Hebrew School follows the suggested course of study of the Bureau of Jewish Education. The Sunday School will accept children from Kindergarten through Grade 10 and Confirmation. Hebrew School classes go through Grade 5.

Temple Beth Avodah provides a comprehensive and complete program of education designed to prepare the children for Bar or Bat Mitzvah and for Confirmation.

As a complement to the Religious School programs, the Temple also offers an Adult Education Program and a New England Federation of Temple Youth Group.

"No longer can we regard ourselves as a small city even though we strive to maintain the traditions and philosophy that enabled Newton to become the fine community that it is today," he asserted.

"In our attempt to keep pace with rapidly evolving changes, whether in the schools, in the areas of land use planning, library or recreation facilities, we must be mindful of our obligations to future generations," Alderman Glovsky stated.

"Only by pursuing a rule of reason can we harmonize our desire to meet the needs of today with our obligation to the generations of the future."

"To accomplish our objectives, we must be ever mindful that we are one city and that the desires of individuals for the accomplishment of objectives dear to their hearts must always be viewed in the light of the impact on the total population," Glovsky said.

Glovsky has been particularly active in an attempt to expedite the school building program which he views as being one of the primary objectives and principal challenges facing the City today.

Glovsky, former secretary to 1960 Republican vice-presidential candidate, Henry Cabot Lodge, has served on the Public Buildings, Franchise and Licenses and Street Traffic Committees since joining the Board and has recently been a member of a Special Police Study Committee.

A former clerk to a United States Circuit Court Judge in the First Circuit, Glovsky is a partner in the firm of Mintz, Levin, Cohn and Glovsky, with which he has been associated for over 18 years. He is a member of the Boston Tax Council and was a Lecturer on Taxation in the Boston University Law School Graduate Tax Program. He has served as chairman of the Junior Bar Association and is a member of the Boston, Massachusetts, American and Waltham, Watertown and Weston Bar Associations.

Glovsky attended Dartmouth College from which he graduated cum laude. At Dartmouth he was a Rufus Choate Scholar and president of Pi Lambda Phi.

21 Lasell Girls
Off Campus

Lasell Junior College's Maine program, now in its fifth year, has indicated that a girl can begin college though far removed from the campus, according to Dean June Babcock, the college's acting president.

She accompanied 21 student leaders, members of Lasell's Student Government Association, to Ocean Park, Me., on Sept. 12, for two days of intensive planning for the coming year. A college chef also went along to prepare meals in the large frame house Lasell rents for this occasion. All other housekeeping chores were handled by the girls.

On returning to the Auburndale campus, the girls met with an additional group of 40 seniors, members of honorary Blue Key, and a few days before the doors open for Lasell's 114th year, the two groups will make plans for greeting nearly 400 new students.

School Start
Pupil Figures
Cause Surprise

A reported slight drop in enrollment of elementary school pupils this year is less significant than the location of the schools where the drop is experienced, Dr. Charles E. Brown, superintendent of schools, told the School Committee at Monday night's meeting.

According to the report the enrollment was down 99 pupils, from 9474 last year to 9375 in '65.

The trend occurred on the city's south side, contrary to what school officials and the city planning consultant expected.

The decline occurred in Oak Hill, Spaulding, Memorial and Ward schools in Newton Centre, Countryside in Newton Highlands, Emerson in Newton Upper Falls and Peirce in West Newton.

On the other hand, schools on the city's north side, where the population was considered to be stable, are showing small increases.

Enrollment jumped slightly at the Underwood School, Newton; Burr, Auburndale; Clafin, Newtonville; Hamilton, Newton Lower Falls; Horace Mann, Newtonville; Mason-Rice, Newton Centre and Murray Road School, Auburndale.

Dr. Brown attributed the population growth in Newton's northern portion to a pattern of older homes being sold to families with children.

A report on secondary school enrollment will be made at the committee's next meeting, Monday, Sept. 27.

I hope that your office can assure me that my ballot and that of the many others who will not be in attendance in the community will be guaranteed."

Norris has served as village chairman of the United Fund campaign for the Newton Corner area, has worked in the Cancer Crusade and has served on the Board of Directors of the Brookline Hospital Associates.

He is a line officer of the Adelphi Lodge, AF and AM, and a member of the Newton Masonic Club.

Attorney Norris also is a member of the executive committee of the American Histradut Culture Exchange Institute, is president of the Alpha Epsilon Pi Alumni (SKP Chapter) and was a team captain for the Northeastern Diamond Anniversary Development Program.

"I live in Ward 7, own my own home there and am rearing my family there," Norris declared. "What happens in and to Ward 7 concerns me very much. I have a long and active involvement in our community affairs, and I feel I can make a useful contribution as an Alderman because of my community activities and my experience."

Norris said that he plans to visit Ward 7 voters personally and to discuss with them the issues and problems of the ward, among which, he feels, regional planning, water conservation, redevelopment, traffic, police protection and the school building program are of particular importance.

NU Engineering School Dean Has Textbook

Dr. Ronald E. Scott, 35 Webster St., West Newton, dean of Northeastern University's College of Engineering, has just published a new book, "Elements of Linear Circuits."

A textbook for beginning engineering students, the publication is designed to provide a strong foundation in linear circuit theory.

A native of Canada, Dr. Scott was graduated from the University of Toronto with a bachelor's degree in 1943. Three years later, he earned his master's degree there.

More Pay For School Travel

Increasing the daily travel allowance of school personnel to conform with the $25 a day maximum City Hall grants was voted Monday night by the School Committee at its first meeting of the 1965-66 year.

The former policy permitted payment of up to $15 a day if a motel or hotel is involved, and $5.50 a day when no such accommodation is required.

Superintendent Charles E. Brown called those figures "most unrealistic." He told the committee that the current budget is flexible enough to cover the cost of the increase.

Youngsters Land Fine Bass Catch

A special trophy for her three and three-fourths pound small mouth bass caught with a crawfish, was awarded 11-year-old Shari Redstone of 98 Baldpate Hill road, Newton Centre, during the recent fishing contest of the Belgrade Lakes region in Maine.

Her brother, Brent, caught a three-pound small mouth with a helgramite in Massasssee Lake.

The youngsters were staying with their parents at Baker's Camps on Long Lake.

Watertown Federal To Open Office In Newton

William P. Sawyer, president of the Watertown Federal Savings and Loan Association, this week announced plans for the second branch office to be opened in January, 1966.

It will be located on land immediately adjacent to the new Star Market, over the Massachusetts Turnpike, on Austin St., Newtonville.

Porter Construction Company of Watertown will break ground this week for the 1400 square foot building. Architects for the ultra-modern facilities are Glaser Associates, Boston.

Headquarters for the $52 million financial institution are at Watertown Square, Watertown. The Newtonville Star Market Branch will offer the same long hours of service as the Mount Auburn Street, Cambridge, Star Market Branch — 44 hours a week including every evening and Saturday mornings.

"These extended hours will continue our policy of adapting the hours and services to the needs and convenience of our present and new depositors in Watertown, Cambridge, the Newtons and surrounding towns," continued Mr. Sawyer.

"There will be loads of free parking for our customers right in the big Star Market lot. Star Market shoppers will find our new office wonderfully convenient to the main entrance to the store. Our Newton branch will be the most modern and efficient financial institution in the area, and we look forward to meeting many new friends in the area."

Only Man Available

The director of civil service has named John E. Connally of 644 Grove St., Newton Lower Falls, as the only man available for the position of temporary male principal clerk in the Division of Employment Security. The job pays $87.20 per week, and the director of the division had requisitioned four men.

Dr. Shields Warren distinguished Boston University alumnus and Director of the Cancer Research Institute, today endorsed the election of City Clerk Monte G. Basbas as Mayor of Newton.

Scout Troop 219 Plans Varied Events Program

Boy Scout Troop 219, sponsored by the First Church in Newton, 1115 Centre St., Newton Centre, will open its regular meetings with an organizational meeting on Tuesday, September 21, at which program and membership plans for the year will be discussed.

The troop of Norumbega Council under Scoutmaster Ronald Dean of 18 West Pine St., Auburndale, and Assistant Scoutmasters Philip Giles, Clarence King, Clifton Dean, and Kenneth Patterson, all of Newton Centre, plans several high adventure camping and hiking trips starting early in the fall.

Scheduled for April, 1966, is a camping trip in New Hampshire or Vermont. These trips will be similar to those taken last year, climbing Mount Cardigan, N. H., and camping near Clarendon Lodge, on the Long Trail near Rutland, Vt.

Other similar trips taken by the troop in the past include a three-day hike in the Pemigewasset Wilderness of New Hampshire and climbs up Mt. Monadnock in Jaffrey, N. H.

In addition to these special trips, the troop plans monthly or more frequent camping at Nobscot Reservation, the council camp in Sudbury, where the troop owns a cabin.

On these trips, Scout camping, nature, and pioneering skills will be emphasized in preparation for the Council Winter and Spring Camporees, in which the troop has always done well.

Regarding the troop plans for the 1965-66 season, Asst. Scoutmaster Clifton Dean stated, "The troop has ambitious and exciting plans for this season. I hope that as many boys as possible will take advantage of the opportunities we are presenting this year."

Bankers Elect John Balkus

A local businessman, John Balkus, comptroller of the Newton National Bank, has been elected secretary of the Boston Chapter of N.A.B.A.C., the National Association for Bank Audit Control and Operation, for the year 1965-1966.

The chapter was organized in 1932, and most of the banks in southern New Hampshire, Eastern Massachusetts, and Rhode Island are represented in its membership. The chapter is one of over 200 such local groups and is devoted to the improvement of all phases of bank auditing, controllership, operations, and personnel administration.

Building permits issued in Newton for the month of July totalled $3,879,965 in value, according to statistics reported at the State House, and the city placed third in the state in the value of new building construction.

Among the important projects were the new incinerator, $2,500,000, and eight apartment buildings with 124 units, at an estimated cost of $820,000.

Newton was also third in the value of new housing.

Christian Doctrine Program For College Of Sacred Heart

The Rev. Russell R. Novello, director of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine in the Archdiocese of Boston, has announced that a C.C.D. program for gifted high school students will be conducted this year at Newton College of the Sacred Heart.

Teaching of the program will be handled on a voluntary basis by a panel of "resource persons" — prominent men and women from various professional fields. The monthly session will range in form from lectures to seminars, panels, and informal discussion groups.

Public high school sophomores, juniors, and seniors who achieved final grades of not less than B in their high school studies last year are eligible for enrollment in the program.

Registration will be held at St. Ursula House, main administration building on Newton's 885 Centre Street campus, on Monday, Sept. 20, beginning at 7 p.m. Each enrolling student is required to bring to registration a copy of his or her high school transcript or other official statement of qualification.

Attendance at the semi-monthly sessions will fulfill the student's religious education obligation.

Cohen Seeks Ward 6 Seat As Alderman

Attorney Robert Cohen is standing for election as Ward 6 Alderman from Ward 6.

Cohen said that he had gone through the Ward obtaining hundreds of nomination signatures and that he has been certified for a place on the ballot by the city election commission.

He declared that he had been warmly and enthusiastically received by residents of the Ward.

Attorney Cohen asserted that his recent contacts with residents of Ward 6 have made him "increasingly aware of the general concern of the citizens about the failure of the present administration to deal effectively with the numerous problems now present in the Ward."

Sees Relief For Traffic Light Snarl

Rep. Theodore D. Mann expressed himself as certain today (Thursday) that the "hodge-podge" of traffic signals at Newton Corner would be corrected and improvements in effect by early November.

He said that according to information he had received from Edward J. McCarthy, Massachusetts Turnpike traffic engineer, revisions in operations have been approved by the city, the state public works department and the authority.

"This is one of the most dangerous intersections in the entire city and the revisions of signals, as requested by the city, will result in a definite improvement of conditions at this point," Mann asserted.

"In completing these revisions," Mann revealed, "the Turnpike Authority must await the manufacture of an intricate signal controller for the proper operation of the signals. Six weeks will consequently be required for the completion of this work."

"So far as the construction of a pedestrian overpass at this location is concerned, this must await final disposition of legal action which has been instituted by the city," Mann concluded. "In the meantime, the revised signals certainly represent progress toward increased safety at this busy intersection."

school buildings and 16 additions.

Our housing needs, classroom space requirements, have been satisfied. We must now update other facilities that have become outmoded. Considerable progress has been made. Expenditures for school construction were substantially increased for 1965; the present Mayor has appointed an architect to design the new Bigelow Junior High School. We will make every effort to move faster, working within the framework of the Capital Improvement Program," City Clerk Basbas concluded.

"In addition to the need for a new High School which merits top priority, there are other pressing school building needs—to replace the outmoded Bigelow and Day Junior High Schools, build a new Burr School, and additions to the Hyde, Carr, and Lincoln-Eliot Schools. Several important steps have been taken to expedite these projects but I think we can move faster," Basbas said.

In continuing his discussion of schools, Basbas lauded the School Department and School Committee. He declared that he was pleased and proud that Haskell C. Freedman, until recently chairman of the Newton Committee for a number of years, was one of his campaign Chairmen.

"I believe that the support of my candidacy by Haskell C. Freedman, former Chairman of the School Committee, by Hugh Tomb, the present Chairman, and by several other members of the Committee is convincing evidence of my capacity to function in harmony with School Committee and School Department," he observed.

Basbas emphasized that "the school system is an integral and highly significant part of the total city government."

"We are one city, whether we talk about the school, whether we talk about City Hall, whether we talk about Library needs, whether we talk about recreation needs. We can remain a sound, progressive and well-managed city, only if our schools are sound, progressive and well-managed."

"Our schools cannot be separated from the rest of the in terms of the needs of our citizens. They can and should be used to serve the needs of our total population. Much more can be done along these lines without interfering with

He maintained that if elected to the Board of Aldermen he would bring to City Hall "a sincere and true reflection of the views and opinions of the people."

Pinpointing specific areas of controversy, Cohen, itemized such matters as "rising real estate taxes, zoning, library and recreational facilities, housing for the elderly, traffic and parking conditions" as some of the matters about which he found the people to be most concerned.

He pledged a "vigorous approach to the solution of these problems through bold and imaginative moves calculated to provide the best in municipal services in the most economic manner."

Attorney Cohen is a graduate of the Boston University of Business Administration and the B. U. Law School. He also attended the graduate program in taxation at the law school.

The Tax Dispute

Representatives Irving Fishman and Theodore D. Mann both have demonstrated a high degree of political statesmanship during the prolonged battle on Beacon Hill over the enactment of a tax program.

From the outset of the tax controversy, Representative Mann supported Governor Volpe's tax plan as the one which would be best for Newton and for the State as a whole.

Representative Fishman opposed the Governor's first tax proposal but then supported Volpe's compromise plan which provided that no tax burden would be imposed on families with incomes of less than $4000 a year and that an additional $500 State income tax deduction would be granted to persons over 65 years of age.

Fishman explained that the Governor had greatly improved his original proposal "by mitigating, if not eliminating, certain regressive features" of his original plan.

Representative Fishman also made it plain that as a responsible legislator he recognized the need for enacting a tax plan which would provide a new source of revenue for the cities and towns and meaningful financial assistance for them.

He has not been one of those law-makers who thrust his head into the sand and pretended the State and the local communities are not confronted with financial crises.

The performances of Representatives Joseph G. Bradley and Paul F. Malloy have left considerable to be desired.

Bradley and Malloy first voted in favor of an alternate tax plan which would take more money out of Newton and return less than the Volpe program.

Even after the Governor wrote new provisions into his compromise plan so that families with incomes of less than $4000 would pay no sales taxes, that the senior citizens would get an additional $500 income tax deduction and the motor excise tax rate would be lowered $10, they still voted against the measure.

Maybe they weren't listening when Senator Edward M. Kennedy made his address to the Legislature earlier this year in which he said he shared the concern of the people of Massachusetts that a new source of revenue be provided by the Legislature.

Season For Safe Driving

Schools are open again and thousands of Newton scholars, with their shining morning faces, are daily making the journey to and from homes and classes.

It is the time of year when local and state safety officials repeat the warning to motorists to drive with "Back to School Caution."

Operators of motor vehicles are asked to pay heed to school children, to watch out for school buses, to slow down wherever school pupils are crossing streets, or at play. It is the time to exercise that extra bit of care and caution behind the wheel. It is the season for safe driving.

Many of today's scholars are just tiny tots. They are on their own in the streets and in traffic for the first time. Despite the warning of parents and teachers these little citizens do forget to look both ways before crossing a street. They are known to step into a busy street without warning. They are often totally dependent for safety, and even life itself, on a motorist's alertness and judgment.

Older scholars have a responsibility of their own in maintaining their health and happiness through the school year.

They are urged to heed parental and teacher warnings and to follow the directions of school safety monitors at all times.

When riding or leaving school buses they should conduct themselves in a sensible and orderly fashion; they should cross streets only between marked crossings, and if riding a bicycle make sure it is properly equipped and headed with the traffic rather than into it.

If everybody plays the safety game and adheres to the few simple rules, it should be a happy and constructive school year for students, teachers, motorists and parents.

Every child attending school in this city, in this state and nation, is a good reason for driving safely at this time, which makes a million good reasons for caution, alertness and courtesy behind the steering wheel.

LETTERS

Future Of Newton

Editor of The Graphic:
The Newton tax rate has finally made the jump that has been predicted for it in the past few years. After two years of grace due to non-recurring receipts from the state, our rate has made the largest jump in recent history.

May Gibbs, after six years in office, leaves us with a message of despair rather than hope. Along with the tax bill, the Newton homeowners were presented with the mayor's interpretation of why the costs of running the city have skyrocketed and why he has been unable to do anything about it. In his final message to the taxpayers, we are asked to grit our teeth in full knowledge that the worst is still ahead.

It is an economic fact that when you spend far more than you can hope to collect, tax rates must inevitably rise.

The City of Newton ranks among the ten largest in the state. The annual budget approaches that of some of the largest corporations in the country. We are no longer the small suburban community that can be run on a part time basis by well meaning men with lack of vision or foresight.

We have long enjoyed the benefits of one of the finest school systems in the country. If we are to continue to enjoy these benefits, the means of keeping and expanding our fine system must also be envisioned. A new high school, a new junior high, additions to several elementary schools are just a few of the immediate needs of our school building program. The whereabouts to attain our goals must be part and parcel of an overall plan for Newton in the coming decade.

The past method of meeting problems only when they become acute must be abandoned. We can no longer build schools only when public clamoring for decent educational plants becomes unbearable. We can no longer build incinerators when the current buildings are crumbling and equipment is being inefficiently operated beyond all hope of repair. Library facilities should not be abandoned while hastily selected sites for replacement are being sought.

Replacement, renewal, building are all signs of a city that has reached a certain point of maturity. Changes in zoning laws must meet the need for building upward where land no longer is available to build outward. New sources of revenue must be sought to pay for the progress in plant and services that we all aspire to. Long range planning must include the ability to buy the goods and services that the city of the future must have to remain healthy and vigorous.

In the next few weeks, we will be able to appraise the men and women who would like to lead us in the years ahead. Candidates for the mayoralty, Board of Aldermen, and School Committee have filed their intentions in the past week. Let us listen to them in the six weeks between now and election day. We will be putting our future in their hands.

Very sincerely,
Harold M. Band

Realism Theme

Science Service

"We must look deep into reality instead of accepting only the outward sense of things."

This statement from the Christian Science textbook (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy) is a central theme of the Bible lesson to be read Sunday in Christian Science churches across the world. The subject is "Realism."

Scriptural readings will include a verse from Habakkuk in the Old Testament: "For the earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea."

Children Mark

Anniversary

A 57th Wedding Anniversary party was given Sept. 11 by their children to Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Levine of 2. Whitemore Rd., Newton, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Holt, 12 Westbourne Rd., Newton Centre.

The couple recently moved here after having lived most of their lives in Carbondale, Penn., where they were married.

They have three daughters, Mrs. Morris Holt, Mrs. Harry Chadis and Mrs. Mac Tellebaum, all of Newton. There are also six grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

SIGNS TO WATCH OUT FOR—A sign of fall is children going back to school. The signs erected to protect young scholars are everywhere to remind motorists of the proximity of school buildings. "Watch Out For the Children and Obey the Signs" is good advice at this time.

Sowing The Wind

Recommended Reading for Parents and Teachers

Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap.
Gal. 6:7

Many centuries have passed since Aristotle wrote, "All who have meditated on the art of governing mankind have been convinced that the fate of empires depends on the education of youth." Never can it be sincerely questioned. Not only is the peace of communities at stake and the solidarity of the family but the destiny of nations and the character of a civilization themselves involved.

As we contemplate ~~disastrous~~ increase in crime, including juvenile delinquency, the breakdown of the traditional importance and blessed influence of the home, the inhumanity which governs such a large part of our relations with our fellowmen and characterizes to so great a degree our treatment of the lower animals over whom we have acquired dominion, we cannot escape the uneasy conviction that something is fundamentally and tragically wrong with our system of education. One perilous defect should be underscored.

Our schools are turning out annually uncounted numbers of students, no few of whom, regardless of intellectual training they have received, are moral adolescents. Many of these graduates will ultimately gain those material rewards by which the world measures success but far too few will develop into veritable men and women of God. The truth of the matter is that our schools are assiduously concentrating on the development of the minds of the students and blindly neglecting the cultivation of their souls. To strongly underscore this situation, let me repeat myself in somewhat different phraseology—that the student has an intellect of great potentiality monopolizes attention; that he has a soul of divine possibilities is largely ignored or forgotten.

We have a highly disquieting situation, indeed a veritable ominous one, in the biology classes of our secondary schools—public, parochial and private. Our science teachers are to an alarming degree betraying their sacred trust. Their immature and impressionable educational "wards" are being contaminated by the pernicious propaganda that vivisection—with all its revolting cruelties to defenseless animals, its demoralizing effect on human character and its inevitable tendency to culminate in experiments on human beings—is an unobjectionable method of so-called "scientific research" and a necessary form of medical instruction, and, as such, blameless in the sight of the Creator of all life. In fact, its actual practice long flourishing in many of our colleges for girls as well as for boys, is increasing to an alarming extent in these secondary schools.

What judgment shall we pass on the parents who are indifferent to the effect of this on the minds and hearts of their children? Indeed, in

Trip to Bermuda Followed Kovner - Shulman Wedding

Bermuda was the honeymoon destination of Sanford Gary Kovner and his bride, the former Miss Janet Ann Shulman, whose marriage took place, recently, at Temple Shalom in Newton.

Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Shulman of 5 Duxbury road, Newton Centre, and Mr. and Mrs. Hyman Kovner of 34 Irving street, Newton Centre, are the couple's parents.

Rabbi Murray I. Rothman officiated at the 6:30 o'clock afternoon service, which followed by a reception.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in silk organdy. The empire bodice had a circlet neckline outlined with jeweled Alencon lace. The slim skirt was highlighted with matching lace, entraîne.

Similar Alencon styled the pill box cap caught with her bouffant illusion veil. She carried her Bible with white orchids and stephanotis.

Miss Marjorie Lee Shulman of Newton Centre, was her sister's maid of honor.

Joel Perlmuter of Milton, cousin of the groom, served as best man. The ushers were Mark Perlmuter of Milton, cousin of the groom, Ronald Kovner of Sharon and Leonard Litman of Winchester, all cousins of the groom, as well as Chester Baker of Lynn and Steven Grossack of Newton Highlands.

Rabbi Kovner and his bride will live in Brighton.

Mrs. Kovner is a member of the class of 1966 at State College at Framingham.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Newton Junior College and Boston University.

Another segment of GOP chieftains, however, are urging Saltonstall to remain in public life and stand for reelection next year.

Persons who know Saltonstall best express the conviction that he will not be influenced by either group and that he'll make his own independent decision.

Their guess is that his decision will be to run again.

While virtually all Republican leaders would be sorry to see Brooke off their State ticket in 1966, some of them are equally anxious to keep Saltonstall in the GOP election picture.

Brooke's present intention to move up or out next year could, of course, change in the next seven or eight months.

It has been no secret for some time that the duties of Attorney General have not rested easily on Brooke.

He doesn't really like the job. He especially doesn't relish the chore of sending people to prison, and he doesn't want to serve eight years as Attorney General.

In fact, Brooke seriously considered seeking the Governorship last year but abandoned the idea rather than undertake a convention fight with Governor Volpe who was intent on making political comeback.

All this is somewhat ironic since Brooke fought like a tiger to win nomination and election as Attorney General in 1962. It turned out the post didn't have as much appeal when he was in it as when he was battling so hard to get it.

Public officials in high positions, who find their responsibilities heavy and the demands upon them onerous midway through their terms, sometimes view things in a different light as the time nears for them to retire to private life.

That could prove to be true of Brooke although persons close to him don't think so. One of Brooke's top aides, Assistant Attorney General John S. Bottomly, is planning to run for Brooke's job, apparently with Brooke's support.

Most political observers, however, expect that Lieutenant Governor Elliott L. Richardson would move over and set his sights on the Attorney Generalship if Brooke steps out.

The Republican picture probably will remain clouded with uncertainty until Saltonstall makes an official announcement as to his plans and Brooke follows it with a statement as to his own intentions.

There is no likelihood that Brooke would challenge either Senator Saltonstall or Governor Volpe next year.

A strange aspect to the entire situation is that at Governor Volpe's testimonial dinner Brooke said he was proud to be a member of the Republican team in 1962 and 1964 and that he would be proud to be a member again in 1966.

He explained later to close associates that he meant he would be proud to be on the GOP ticket if he should decide to run.

Fat Cat Labor Chiefs Speak Only for Selves

Two fat-cat labor spokesmen put themselves in a ridiculous light when they threatened to studio and that Kennedy had refused to endorse Furcolo.

Details of the row and of Kennedy's refusal to publicly support Furcolo were leaked to the newspapers at the time by a Kennedy aide whom Furcolo later appointed a judge.

But until Sorensen put it in print it had not been established that JFK gave Saltonstall any direct assistance in the '54 campaign.

What Sorensen didn't explain in his book was why the late President—then a junior U. S. Senator—agreed to appear on a television program with Furcolo and Robert F. Murphy if he didn't want to endorse Furcolo.

Kennedy was scheduled to enter a hospital the next day to undergo major surgery, and he could have avoided the TV appearance on that ground if he had desired to do so.

Possibly the explanation was that JFK wanted to help Murphy but not Furcolo and that he didn't feel he could appear on TV with Murphy alone.

Furcolo and Saltonstall waged a very close race which Furcolo could have won with Kennedy's help.

Sorensen also doesn't really explain why JFK, after being furious with Furcolo in 1954 and declining to endorse him, actively supported Furcolo for Governor in 1956 and helped him to achieve election.

On this point Sorensen merely reports that Kennedy, when asked by newsmen why he was endorsing Furcolo in 1956 after refusing to endorse him in 1954, replied that he considered Furcolo superior to his gubernatorial opponent (Summer G. Whittier).

Democrats Eye

Atty Gen. Post

Competition for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General will be heightened tremendously if Attorney General Brooke holds to his present plan of not seeking reelection to a third term.

Both ex-Governor Endicott Peabody and former Lieutenant Governor Francis X. Bellotti are now regarded as potential contenders for their party's endorsement for Attorney General.

A strange aspect to this situation—if it develops—is that Lester S. Hyman, who was Peabody's top aide when he was Governor, is now far out front in the contest for the Democratic endorsement for Attorney General.

Whether Peabody would move into a fight against Hyman is not known.

'54 Campaign Secret

Theodore C. Sorensen revealed some political secrets when he reported in his book that the late John F. Kennedy assigned him to remain in Massachusetts and help Leverett Saltonstall in the latter's 1954 fight with Foster Furcolo for a seat in the U. S. Senate.

We admit it.

Our moving men will occasionally goof. Naturally, they feel bad when they do. But one thing you can depend on: they'll be honest about it.

Some moving companies take accidental damage as a fact of life and don't worry about it too much.

We worry.

We know that most of your possessions have a deep sentimental value (like the sea-shell lamp base you got in Atlantic City, or the blue china plate Aunt Maud left you). Possessions get to be a part of your life, and when they're damaged it hurts.

We've tried to remove this kind of pain from your moving day by providing you with men who are as careful as any human can be.

It's not easy to find this kind of men. Over half the men who apply for jobs with us are unable to make the grade. Of those who do, only half can make it through the first year of training.

The men who survive all this are the kind you can trust your possessions to.

When they move you away from your old home chances are you'll be all broken up. Chances are your furniture won't be.

Little Objection To Dormitories

Made for the third time Monday night at a public hearing before the Planning Board and Aldermanic committee on claims and rules in City Hall, the plea of Lasell Junior College for permission to erect campus dormitories in Auburndale brought forth only slight opposition.

The proposed project had been somewhat vigorously opposed at previous hearings.

Herbert Regal Describes Function Of School Board

Herbert F. Regal, well known and highly respected businessman and Harvard graduate who is seeking election as the School Committee member from Ward 6, outlined his conception of the functions of a School Board at a candidate's night sponsored by the Beethoven School PTA Monday night.

Regal voiced his agreement with the Willis Report's definition of a School Committee as "the public's local agency for the establishment of policy."

He outlined his deep involvement in Newton's community affairs, including service as president of the Mason-Rice PTA, district director of the Newton United Fund, treasurer of the Newton Citizens for Dental Health, and nominating committee chairman of the Newton PTA Council.

Regal also was hardware chairman of the Combined Jewish Philanthropies of Greater Boston.

Regal stressed the importance of striving to achieve equal educational opportunities throughout Newton's public schools.

He emphasized the importance of balancing fiscal responsibility against those demands which are essential to maintaining and improving a first-class system of public school education in Newton.

Regal resides at 155 Homer St., Newton Centre, with his wife and their three children, all of whom are attending Newton public schools.

Mr. Regal graduated from Harvard College in 1947 receiving his A.B. degree.

away in a pillowcase taken from a bed.

Officers who went to the Ruane Flower Shop at 77 Walnut St., Newtonville, after a neighbor reported the sound of breaking glass, found the glass shattered on a rear door and blood on the sidewalk, but the owner, Harry Brenner, said nothing had been taken.

A screen door to a porch was cut through at the home of Meyer Goldman, 1337 Commonwealth Ave., Waban, where a complete set of silverware was reported stolen.

Silverware and jewelry were taken from the home of Mitchell Epstein, 229 Prince St., West Newton, the owner reported.

At 81 Fuller St., West Newton, Mrs. Rebecca Becker said a rear door had been jimmied and the loot taken included two mink stoles, two cashmere sweaters, jewelry and about $30 in cash.

At home of Frank Breznik, 25 West Boulevard Rd., Newton, a wall safe, a fur stole, two fur-collared sweaters and some liquor were stolen, according to his report to the police.

Thieves got away with a coin collection at 472 Dudley Rd., Newton Centre, Herbert Issner, the householder, told police.

The house of William Katz, 515 Dudley Rd., was given a thorough ransacking by intruders.

Another break was made at the home of Benjamin Roman, 499 Dudley Rd. Police investigating the other Dudley Rd. breaks discovered that the home of Berthold Hyman, No. 508, had also been entered.

The automobiles in the week's theft list were a $2500 convertible, property of Mrs. Jean McGourty, 372 Parker St., Newton Centre, and one valued at $1900 belonging to Daniel R. Richard, 67 Grafton St., Newton Centre. Mrs. McGourty reported that her car was taken from the parking lot at Sacred Heart Church. Richard reported that his car was taken from the rear of 299 Centre St., Newton.

It was the vegetable stand of Mrs. Lucy Spezzano, 97 Florence St., Chestnut Hill, that supplied some thief with two bushels of potatoes and a bushel of apples.

Mrs. Aaron Ross, 275 Country Club Rd., Oak Hill, reported that a control box for the electric eye on her garage door was removed from her car in the Chestnut Hill shopping center.

There were two pocket-book thefts. In one, Patricia Daniels of 8 Helene Rd., Waban, told police an 18-year-old youth pointed a gun at her on Chestnut St., near Byfield Rd., Waban, late Sunday night, and snatched her handbag containing a small sum of money. In the other, Sheila Donovan reported that her pocketbook was taken from her car near her home at 34 Hanning St., Newton Centre.

Last Friday night the playground house at Newton Centre was the object of a break. Bar bells and other athletic equipment were included in the loot.

The gas-fired boiler, valued at $600, was reported stolen from an Auburndale construction site. It was taken from an apartment house being constructed by Woodland Park Realty at 276 Grove St.

Three workmen at the Boston College construction site reported the loss of tools from their toolboxes Monday. The

Box Score On Crime

Alderman William Carmen last night cited the following breakdown of serious crimes committed in Newton in 1963 and 1964 as he reported on an increase in crime in the city:

	1963	1964
Forcible Rape	3	16
Robbery	10	23
Aggravated Assault	17	30
Burglaries	445	547

backfield averaging 183 pounds.

Newton High, however, has some talented players who should give a good account of themselves if they have any kind of breaks on Saturday.

Senior Dick DiLuzio is a fine passer, and Tom Warren is an excellent receiver and target for DiLuzio's aerial bombs.

Bill Jonah is a rugged, hard-hitting 214-pound fullback. Ends Tom Lyons and Dave Foley performed well in a game-type scrimmage with Boston English High.

Paul Burlingame and Ed Norton should be a big help to the Newton cause if they are fully recovered from the injuries which sidelined during the scrimmage with English.

Franco DiStefano, who was born in Italy, came to this country at the age of five and remained out of football for the past three years because of an attack of rheumatic fever, has been one of Newton High's big surprises and has won a defensive middle guard spot.

Ed Kelly and Elliot Nierman shape up as solid linebackers. Dick Jefferson and Ed Norton are good cornermen, and Dom Boudreau, the safetyman, has impressed in the scrimmages.

But Coach Ronayne has plenty of problems as he prepares his charges for Saturday's acid test.

Newton South's Coach George Winkler is optimistic about the way his squad has come along and its prospects for a good season.

"I can't be sure about the season," he says. "The way the ball bounces, all I can do is take a guess and take one game at a time. But I am looking forward to the season with considerable hope."

Steve Cooper, a junior halfback, could develop into one of the best football players in Newton South history.

Standout players on the South roster include fullback John Passarini, halfback Mike Nathanson, tackle Joe Durocher, guard Art Leventhal, outside linebacker Dick Hennessey and offensive center Dick Aghabadian.

On the strength of what the Lions have shown in their pre-season scrimmages, they appear to have a good chance of opening their season with a win over Fitchburg, especially if South's "walking wounded" are all ready for action on Saturday.

Jean Noel of 42 Kingston Rd., Newton Highlands, is enrolled in the secretarial course at Vermont College, Montpelier. Ann Carp, 439 Commonwealth Ave., Newton Centre, is enrolled in the general course, and Ellen Joyce Klapper of 354 Kenrick St., Newton, is enrolled in the liberal arts course.

Services For Teenagers At Miskan Tefila

Five hundred teenagers are expected to attend the special youth services at Temple Mishkan Tefila, Hammond Pond Pkwy., Chestnut Hill, during the coming High Holy Days. Because of the growing number of boys and girls in the congregation between the ages of 13 and 18, special services have been arranged and a large canvas tent has been erected which will accommodate more than 500.

The tent is at the rear of the Temple parking lot and is adjacent to the school building entrance.

Jeremy Zwelling and Eric Myers, instructors in the Temple high school department, will officiate at the services, accompanied by Miss Esther Chorover at the organ.

Members of the committee on arrangements are Dr. Julian Snyder, chairman; Rabbi Israel J. Kazis, Cantor Gregor Shelkan, Albert S. Frager, Leo Karas and Dr. Irving Shaffer.

In addition to the youth services, adult services for 1800 are held in the main sanctuary and five special children's services in the school building.

Alderman Carmen pointed out that Newton jumped above the national crime rate last year as a result of a 41.5 per cent increase in crime as contrasted to an 11.1 per cent rise in the national average.

"In 1964 Newton exceeded the national and New England percentage increases in the number of crimes committed over the preceding year in each category of serious crime except murder, where fortunately we had none in either year," Carmen said.

Carmen's report, entitled "Crime Trends in Newton," follows:

"But perhaps more significant than the increase in the number of crimes is last year's increase in the rate of crime in Newton. The crime rate is expressed in terms of number of crimes per 100,000 population. As previously indicated our 1964 rate increase based on all serious crimes was 41.5%. This is almost quadruple the National percentage of increase of 11.1%, and is two and one half times as great as the New England percentage of increase of 17.4 percent," Carmen declared.

Although in 1964 Newton was below the National rates of crime in murder, robbery and aggravated assault, and was about even in the auto theft rate, the rate of increase in the number of these crimes (excluding murder) in Newton was substantially higher than both the National average increase and the average increase for cities with populations of 50,000 to 100,000.

Furthermore, in other categories of serious crime, not only was the rate of such crimes higher in Newton than in the Nation as a whole, as well as higher than the rates in New England, and Metropolitan Boston, but the rate of increase of such crimes in Newton was also way above the National and New England and cities with populations of 50,000 to 100,000 rates of increase.

"The importance of the FBI figures is not so much that they show Newton to be above the National rate in terms of crime per 100,000 of population in so many areas, although this statistic is very important, but rather that they show a rising trend of crime in Newton, a trend toward more crime at a pace which far outstrips the National rate of increase—a trend toward underworld opportunism in Newton and by way of conclusion, a trend toward less effective police protection in Newton," Carmen stated.

Newton has always kept abreast of trends along the social front, indeed, Newton has been a leader and has set the pace in many areas of social change and development—most notably perhaps in the field of education. Our leaders have been aware of the constant upward sweep of activities, of the rapidity of change in the social structure, and have not lagged behind in meeting the demands and solving the problems of changing times. In order to cope with the needs and demands of such change, there must be an awareness of the trends in the various social areas," Alderman Carmen continued.

The foregoing statistics clearly reveal the rising trend of crime in Newton, a trend which could have a far-reaching degenerating social effect in the community. Action is called for to combat the trend. Newton should set the pace for a new trend in effective police protection by taking steps to reduce the incidence of crime in the city," Alderman Carmen declared.

Percentage Of Crime Increase

Alderman Carmen issued the following table showing the Newton percentage of increase in serious crimes from 1963 to 1964 as compared to other percentage increases for the same years.

	Newton	National Average	New England Average	Cities of 50,000 to 100,000
Murder	0	8.4%	6.5%	21.3%
Forcible Rape	433.0%	21.0%	40.6%	30.4%
Robbery	130.0%	12.0%	13%	20.5%
Aggravated Assault	78.5%	17.0%	49.6%	25.4%
Burglary	22.7%	12.0%	18.5%	14.8%
Larceny over $50	70.7%	13.0%	20.1%	17.6%
Auto Theft	28.7%	15.8%	22.6%	18.3%
Total	41.5%	13.1%	17.4%	17.0%

Progresses

A report of Newton's progress in developing a community action program as part of the federal Economic Opportunity Act 1964 was given by Mrs. Irene K. Thresher, president of the newly incorporated group known as Newton Community Action, Inc., to the Governing Board of the Newton Community Council at recent meeting.

Mayor Donald L. Gibbs requested the Newton Community Council last spring to prepare an application for planning funds from the Office of Economic Opportunity. This initial application requested $53,314 or a 12-month research and planning project. The purpose of this project is to better identify the problem areas in Newton which include poverty, illiteracy, unemployment, and others, so that programs can be designed which will be most useful in alleviating these problems.

Officers and directors of the Newton Community Action, Inc. are as follows: Mrs. Irene K. Thresher, president; Nathan D. Bugbee, treasurer; Marvin Sparrow, secretary; Mrs. Avis Arsenault, Rev. Commander Joseph G. Bradley of the Newton D.A.V. The Chapter will present to the Newton School Department a long-playing record of major speeches given by leaders of the allied countries, as well as those made by leaders of our World War II enemies, edited by H. By EILEEN BORIS

When relaxing summer months turn into fall school days, the dormant corridors and classrooms of Newton South erupt with bustling activity. Though another year, another beginning, new additions have arrived.

Incoming sophomores are not the only ones who are unfamiliar with the school. Principal William Geer, Jr., also wishes to become acquainted with the faculty and students alike. He explains his opposition to radical change in an interview with Denebola: "I don't conceive of a school as a thing you perform surgery on and I don't intend to perform surgery on Newton South." The administration has altered one "rule" though. Only upperclassmen are allowed to leave if they have a last class study.

We also welcome Tullia Todras, an AFS exchange student from Italy. Seventeen-year-old Tullia combines academic talent with athletic.

She fluently speaks four languages and plays in champion tennis matches. With her family, the Shors of 90 High Rock Terrance, Tullia has viewed the New York World's Fair and visited Cape Cod. And South student Ralph Locke has returned from a six month stay in Israel under the Eisenstadt International Exchange.

Even the yearbook Regulus offers an addition. A week ago

saw the first supplement ever released. Included in Bev Woo's staff's first effort are pictures of Dr. Davidson and other previous faculty members, senior symposium, senior prom and graduation. Work or Regulus '66 is beginning now. Seniors are reminded that September is the last month for Purdy sittings.

"Tigeramma," an innovation in all-school functions, blasted the ears of the cafeteria last Friday night. "Kick-off" was a dance rally sponsored by the Associates Council. The 1965 Massachusetts Jaycees Battle of the Bands winners, the Montclairs performed the music. The varsity football team, cheerleaders, and majorettes provided the rally. Kick-off chairman Willa Goodman hoped that the revenues would finance our Korean orphan.

The Associates Council executive board consists of:

President, John Abramson; vice president, Peter Oppenheim; secretary, Jane Cohen, and treasurer, Audrey Jacobs.

Though not exactly new, the Newton South Education Program (NSEP) possesses change. Each major—English, French, math and social studies—meets twice in one-half hour periods a week in groups of 12 students; two-hour periods in groups of 25, and once for an all-group lecture. Participants take other subjects with the rest of the school. Independent study conferences daily consume an hour.

The program's director, Cutler housemaster Harold Hawkes, feels, "In general, the esprit de corps was quite good" about NSEP's first year. This year the basic objectives have remained: The attempt to individualize the educational experience and to establish a better student-teacher relationship.

Wider Corner

Asked By Pratt

Willard S. Pratt, public works director was the only speaker at a public hearing held in City Hall by the Board of Aldermen, on his proposal to widen the southeast corner of Elliot and Chestnut Sts., Newton Upper Falls.

Pratt told the Board that as buildings were being constructed in the area this would be a good time for the badly needed project. He explained that the corner was so narrow that busses making

the street.

The matter was referred by President Wendell R. Bauman to the public works and finance committees.

Shea

Shea researched public administration under the late famous Professor Morris B. Lambie of Harvard University and Tufts. He also studied public service and politics under Professor Franklin Patterson, former director of the Lincoln Filene Center for Citizenship and Public Affairs.

Active in civic, fraternal and charitable affairs, Shea is assistant scoutmaster of Newton Corner's Boy Scout Troop 11, serves as Ward 7 chairman for Cerebral Palsy and as Village Chairman of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital Men's General Gifts Section. He also has participated in Newton Easter Seal Drives.

In asking support of his candidacy by Ward 7 voters, Shea stated:

"I believe that this election demands that we consider issues, not personalities. With Newton Corner on the threshold of great change, we need an Alderman willing to face up to the issues."

"The neglected and disgraceful problem of traffic congestion in Newton Corner is one of the most important issues of this campaign. I advocate complete and speedy redesign of the traffic flows in this series of intersections and the constructive use of city master planning to solve this complex traffic problem," Shea declared.

"I am also determined to prevent Urban Renewal from resulting in massive neighborhood destruction in the area surrounding Newton Corner. Clearance of homes from Newton Corner to the Brighton Line must be prevented; the only role for urban redevelopment that I can foresee is clearance of certain truly blighted business properties in Newton Corner and in traffic redesign."

"Any selective blight outside the core of Newton Corner certainly should be solved by effective code enforcement and not by a vast Urban Renewal superstructure," he said.

"Other issues which, in my judgement from more than 25 years in our community, compel our immediate attention are the retention of a substantial branch of our renovated library system in Newton Corner; the need for present construction of the new Bigelow Junior High School; the need for renovation of the Underwood School; and the need for vigilant attention to the nature of any proposed Air Rights over the turnpike extension."

"I also believe in the establishment of an effective Human Relations Commission, the checking of Newton's near-explosive real estate tax, the preservation of the open spaces on the Chestnut Hill Country Club, support for a Youth Recreation Center, and the protection of the greater Newton Corner area from domination by massive high rise apartments."

"I further pledge every citizen of Ward Seven that I will campaign on the issues throughout this contest, and, upon my election, will vote

Child's Religious Education?

Instead of Church School Dogma that instills fear of sin and guilt, Unitarian-Universalist teaching concentrates on encouraging wholesome, psychologically sound values that make sense to both parents and child.

This program helps children develop moral and religious attitudes out of their own understanding and experiences, at home, at school, and among their friends.

They learn about the origin of today's World Religions... to understand the religious ideas of others... to have faith in themselves... to grow up tolerantly searching for truth to make life a rich and full adventure.

Isn't this what you want for your child? Then investigate the Unitarian-Universalist Religious Education Program.

Zone Change Is Fought By Security Mills

Some 50 residents of Newtonville's Cabot Park area appealed at City Hall last Monday night in favor of a petition brought by Mrs. Ann T. Meade of 100 Norwood avenue, Newtonville, for a change from Manufacturing Zone to Private Residence Zone at the site of the Security Mills, 24 Monroe street.

Needless to report, those favorable to the petition were considerably at odds with officials of the Security Mills Realty Trust, who told the Planning Board and Aldermanic committee on claims and rules, before whom the public hearing was held, that the Security Mills property, containing 143,513 square feet, is assessed for $180,650, and that its present occupant, International Stretch Products Company of New York, has a $25,000 weekly payroll. Also, they said, the firm's employees number 342, of whom 254 are Newton residents.

Timothy Meade, representing his mother, the petitioner, stated that since the mill was purchased by the New York firm, its operation had undergone a great change. It is a noisy business, he said, and the buildings have been allowed to run down. An addition has not been completed; he continued, lint is blown all over the area, and a sour odor pervades the neighborhood.

Opponents of the petition declared that no part of the land concerned in the petition is use for private residence, and there is no contemplation on the part of Security Mills that it will be so used. They also charged that the people who brought the petition do not own the land for which they request a zone change.

The opponents included Justin T. Horan, executive vice president of the Newton Chamber of Commerce.

U.N. Day Observance At South High School Oct. 21

Mayor Donald L. Gibbs has proclaimed October 21 as United Nations Day in Newton, and has called on all Newton citizens to support the annual United Nations Day Dinner to be held on that day at 6:30 p.m. at Newton South High School.

The dinner will be followed by a talk at 8:00 p.m. in the auditorium by Edmund A. Gullion, Dean of the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy of Tufts University, an outstanding authority on international relations.

The dinner and lecture will be sponsored by the World Affairs Council of Newton, of which Alderman William L. Bruce is president. Harold J. Berman, professor of Law at Harvard Law School and a vice-president of the World Affairs Council of Newton, will introduce Dean Gullion.

In issuing his proclamation, Mayor Gibbs stated: "The annual celebration of United Nations Day has become a notable event in the life of the people of Newton. For many years the World Affairs Council of Newton has succeeded in obtaining an outstanding speaker for the United Nations Day Dinner, and dozens of foreign students who live in Newton have attended as guests of various Newton citizens and have been introduced at the dinner. The celebration this year promises to be as successful as those of past years, and I hope that once again large numbers of Newton residents will attend."

Mayor Donald L. Gibbs issued an official proclamation designating the week which is being actively supported and publicized by the Newton Fire Department and Chamber of Commerce.

Chamber of Commerce members are being provided with specially prepared Fire Prevention material in observance of the week here.

Fire Chief Frederick Perkins today urged all Newton residents, business and manufacturing firms to take cognizance of their premises during Fire Prevention Week.

Chief Perkins particularly stresses the need for making a clean-up of residential and business property and the removal of all fire hazards including rubbish accumulations and flammables. Garages can be especially vulnerable as fire traps.

In sponsoring Fire Prevention Week here, the City of Newton takes its place with communities throughout the country in the national movement to sponsor fire safety programs.

Judge Yesley Speaks At B'nai B'rith Meeting

Joshua L. Liebman Lodge & Chapter, B'nai B'rith, will hold a joint meeting this (Thursday) evening, Sept. 30, at the Newton Highlands Women's Club, Columbus St., Newton Highlands at 8:15 o'clock.

Guest speaker will be Judge Julian Yesley, presiding Justice of Newton District Court, on the subject of teen-age problems. The issues will be discussed by a panel of B'nai B'rith Youth Organization members.

and the serious potential hazards if this is allowed to continue," Carmen declared.

"There is the ever-increasing chance of serious physical harm coming to a victim of a major crime, of which more than 2700 have been committed in Newton since Jan. 1, 1963."

"Even more pronounced is the tangible psychological effect each of these crimes has on the victimized person and family. Children and adults alike are deeply troubled by the memory of these crimes.

"At a time when the people of the City of Newton have begun to recognize and act on the need for a mental health clinic it is equally important that we attempt to reduce the sources of potential psychological problems.

"Indeed the rapid growth of crime in Newton, four times the national average according to the F.B.I. Reports, indicates an atmosphere exists which also submerges young people to the suggestion of becoming involved in unlawful activities, thus a chain reaction is generated," Carmen asserted.

"There is yet another problem created by this crime wave, the financial one. With the heavy loss ratio in Newton, our future reputation is at stake. The garden city has begun to lose some of its lustre in the eyes of prospective new homeowners. This can eventually effect demand, values, and assessments, ultimately causing a rise in the tax rate," Alderman Carmen continued.

"The answer is abundantly clear. We require a larger police force with more marked cruisers to patrol the city. We must let it be known that the city of Newton cares about its citizens and wishes to protect them.

"We must offer a fair competitive increased salary to attract and retain men who wish to serve in our police department to make it the finest force anywhere. We must constantly retrain these men in the latest techniques of crime prevention and detection and must give these men sufficient amounts of the best equipment with training to

In the discussion of the Bill in the U. S. Senate earlier this month, Senator Hart (D-Michigan) stated, "Fighting crime effectively under modern conditions and maintaining law and order requires professional police who are expertly trained in a variety of skills. Trained professional law enforcement personnel are essential to the preservation of our National health and strength and are deserving of increased Federal support," Carmen pointed out.

Senator Hruska (R-Nebraska) stated, "In this business of crime, which is perhaps the number one problem in America today domestically, we have the problem of the ordinary policeman and law enforcement officer, who has to be a combination of many things. He has not only to be an arresting officer, but he also has to be possessed of some knowledge of the law, have some attributes of a judge, a sociologist, neighborhood counsellor, and perhaps a parole officer.

"Most of these fields are highly technical. It is our contention that the crime problem demands the same kind of research techniques and priorities which we have assigned to our defense effort, the space programs, and the battle against disease and illness."

"Consider the spectacular successes in these fields and how they contrast with our growing failure even to cope with the crime problem, let alone overcome it."

"Each year the reports of the F.B.I. graphically describe how society is losing the fight against crime. Last year there was a 13% increase in serious crimes in the Nation. (Newton had a 41% increase). Unless we reverse, or at the least modify the trend our society is threatened with breakdown."

Alderman Carmen in summarizing his feeling on this issued declared, "Newton's municipal legislators and administrators must awaken to the facts of our time as have the F.B.I. and the United States Senate.

"Now is the time for action," Carmen concluded.

A four-part series of lectures giving the Christian viewpoint on sex education will start next Thursday, October 7, at 8 p.m. at Our Lady Help of Christians School Auditorium.

Sponsored by the Our Lady's Confraternity of Christ, the month-long program will feature Dr. William O'Connell, well-known obstetrician-gynecologist.

The first two sessions, October 7 and 14, will be for parents only, according to William F. King of 19 Wildwood Avenue, Newtonville, parent educator chairman for Our Lady's CCD. The third, on October 21 will be for girls of high school (Grades 9-12) age, while the fourth and final session on October 28 will be for high school age boys.

The program will consist of a lecture by Dr. O'Connell followed by a question-and-answer period which will last as long as interest requires. To be covered in the lectures, explained Mr. King, are the religious, moral, and physical aspects of sex education.

Material in the adult sessions will include the role of the Catholic parent in sex education, the need for parental leadership, the helps which parents require, and techniques which parents can use in teaching their children.

Dr. O'Connell, who has been in practice for 18 years, is on the staff of both St. Elizabeths Hospital, Brighton, and Faulkner Hospital, Jamaica Plain. A graduate of Boston College and Tufts Medical School, he is co-chairman of the parent educator program of the CCD Archdiocese Federation.

Rev. Eugene F. Boyle, spiritual director of Our Lady's CCD, urged all parents in the parish to attend the sessions, whether or not they have children of high school age.

Young people of high school age will be admitted to their meetings, Father Boyle stated, only if they have tickets which will be distributed at the parent sessions.

Newton High Seeks First Grid Victory

Newton High School's football team, defeated 30-6 last Saturday by powerful defending Class A champion Everett, hopes to get into the win column when it meets Brockton High at the Shoe City this Saturday.

Newton South High, which opened its 1965 gridiron season in spectacular fashion by toppling Fitchburg 27-6 last Saturday, will be striving for its second straight triumph when it hosts Cambridge Latin Saturday afternoon with the kickoff scheduled for 1:30.

Neither the Tigers of Newton High nor the Lions of Newton South have any soft touch this week although both teams could win if they come up with top performances.

Brockton High, which came out of the football doldrums with an 8-6 upset victory over Quincy last Saturday, is sure to be fired up for Saturday's encounter with Newton.

Cambridge Latin, next foe of the Newton South Lions, roared to a 20-0 win over Maynard High last Saturday. It was the first time the Canbats had defeated Maynard in five years.

So both Newton High and Newton South should be involved in exciting games on Saturday.

Coach Ronayne's Newton High Tigers gave powerhouse Everett a real battle for the first half of last Saturday's clash.

Newton went into 6-0 lead before the overflow crowd at Dickinson Stadium as quarterback Dick DiLuzio scored first on a 45-yard touchdown run.

Everett took the ensuing kickoff, marched back 64 yards for a touchdown and then made a two-point conversion. At half-time Everett's Crimson Tide led 8-6.

But in the second half Everett overpowered the outmanned Tigers, playing a ball-control game which limited Newton to four offensive plays in the third period and seven in the final quarter, a total of 11 for the second half.

Disappointed Coach Ronayne had a succinct explanation for the season-opening loss. "We were simply outmanned position for position," he declared.

Newton South got off to a flying start in its game at Fitchburg, shattering a 12-game winning streak for the host team.

Mike Nathanson, Steve Cooper and Art Leventhal all tallied touchdowns for the Lions.

South racked up 200 yards rushing, while Fitchburg had minus 25 yards to show for its attempts to travel overland against the strong South defensive unit.

Passarini started the scoring for the Lions. He broke away on a 65-yard run on the third play of the game and was finally halted on the Fitchburg one-yard line. He plunged across for the TD two plays later. Cooper rushed for a two-point conversion.

Nathanson went over on a trap play for the second touchdown, and Steve Parnell passed to Cooper for the third tally. Jose Compos, a Mexican kicking specialist, who has never played football before, place kicked for the extra point, giving South a 21-0 lead.

The final Lion score came when Leventhal intercepted

Rabbi Rothman Says New Year Is An Illusion

In his High Holy Day message to his congregation, Rabbi Murray I. Rothman, spiritual leader of Temple Shalom of Newton, had this to say regarding the new year:

"A new year is an illusion, for our future is influenced by our past even as our hopes are colored by our memories. What Rosh Hashanah provides is an opportunity to examine the past and seek to understand it in the light of broader experience, changing circumstances, and the profounder insight which flows from an extended perspective. What is new about the new year, therefore, is the opportunity to take a new look at ourselves and our world."

"In this season of introspection and evaluation, we seek to perceive life in terms of those attributes which can make man whole and the world one. This is the time for the establishment of new priorities which will serve to implement the prophetic dream of peace, justice and compassionate concern for the welfare of all man. For what good is it that we send a few men into the heavens, if we consign the rest to a life of hell?

"Judaism is more than joining, belonging, subscribing or attending. It is even more than the knowledge people must have. Judaism is a way of life, a total response to the totality of life out of the fullness of one's being. To quote Vice-President Humphrey, it is a "challenge to the inevitability of poverty, of discrimination, of injustice, not only in America, but in all the world..."

"The High Holyday liturgy verbalizes our vision of the messianic age, points the way toward a closer approximation of that ideal state, and firms up our resolve to perform those deeds which will give substance to our prayerful wish and form to our fluid will."

Gerry May of 57 Bellevue St., Newton, is battling for a position on the varsity football team at Tufts College.

Furcolo Run For Congress Likely After Exoneration

Former Governor Foster Furcolo is back in action as a potentially strong candidate for public office if he decides to return to politics.

Furcolo's acquittal on charges of conspiracy to arrange a bribe generated a wave of public sympathy for him.

After studying the testimony given in the trial of Furcolo and four present or former members of the Governor's Council, most observers can't understand why Furcolo was ever indicted in the first place.

Grand Jury proceedings, of course, are secret, but it's reasonably safe to assume that the same evidence presented to the Grand Jury which indicted Furcolo was brought out in open court.

Furcolo was cleared and exonerated in the strongest possible way when Judge Eugene A. Hudson, in effect, ruled that no case had been made against Furcolo and ordered that the jury return a not-guilty verdict.

This does not wipe out the fact that Furcolo lived for about a year with a cloud over his head, his means of earning a livelihood sharply curtailed since he is a lawyer and people usually don't hire attorneys who are under indictment and themselves awaiting trial.

The Furcolo case reflected little credit on the now defunct Crime Commission which gathered the evidence on which the indictment against Furcolo was sought. It undoubtedly will be used as an argument against the creation of any future Crime Commissions.

Whether Furcolo will return to the political war as an active combatant next year is uncertain. Furcolo himself probably has not yet mapped any political plans. If he does run in 1966, the likelihood is that his target will be Congressman Joe Martin's seat in Congress.

There will be no opening for Furcolo to run either for Governor or U.S. Senator, and there is some doubt that Furcolo would be interested in the campaigns for either Mr. Babas or Mr. Carmen.

I wish to have a correction printed in this regard. At the time I happened to be some 800 miles away, and am not involved in the campaigns for either Mr. Babas or Mr. Carmen.

It is not my desire to mislead the residents of this area into believing that I have declared myself as a worker for a strong Democrat might carry.

Martin who will be 82 years old before the end of his present term, is not expected to stand for reelection.

If he does run for another term, his age would be used as an issue against him.

Furcolo could be a potent contender for Martin's post when the aging Congressman runs again or not.

Salty Keeps

Editor of the Graphic: Last Friday night there was a fire on the top floor of the three-story building at 289 Washington street, Newton Corner. Prompt action by the Newton Fire Department expertly controlled the blaze and resulting damage largely to the top floor of this building.

Tons of water were of course played on the fire, but due to the prompt and intelligent covering of furniture and machinery on our bank premises only negligible damage resulted.

Many times one hears thoughtless citizens talk about "axe happy" firemen, etc. in connection with putting out and controlling a fire. Just speaking from personal experience this is a grossly unfair statement to make for we have found the Newton Fire Department both expert and thoughtful in protecting our property. We think they deserve a commendation.

Important Week

Editor of The Graphic:

The week of Sept. 17-23 marked the 178th anniversary of the signing of the Constitution of the United States. We who have lived under its wise provisions have enjoyed more freedom than any people on earth. Because we have done so, it is fitting that we think back to those serious, unselfish men who labored through some 87 days of a hot Philadelphia summer to make the Constitution the sturdy, flexible instrument it is.

They came from different professions and different parts of the country. They ranged in age from 81 to 26. Of necessity, therefore, they had very varied views about government.

And this diversity was in the end a great strength. Our Constitution stands as one of humanity's outstanding achievements. Freedom? It gives it to us, to all the people. Responsibility? It gives us that, too. Let us be proud of it, and zealous that it never be undermined.

They came from different professions and different parts of the country. They ranged in age from 81 to 26. Of necessity, therefore, they had very varied views about government.

"Goldilocks and Her Bears," better known as Miss Herta Klauser of Germany will be on hand to delight Boston audiences. Included in Miss Klauser's troupe are Syrian, Russian and Polar Bears.

On Saturday morning, Oct. 9, at 10:30 a.m. a special show will be staged for thousands of under-privileged children and orphans from homes in the Greater Boston area. Assisting the Shriners in caring for the special guests will be members of the knights of Columbus and the AMVET Sad Sacks.

More Police Protection

Less than 10% of Newton's budget is spent for public safety. This is unrealistic. Each year police department is doing the best job it can with the facilities provided them. I believe that it is very inadequate to handle the increase of crime that has enveloped Newton. Ward 8 has been particularly hit hard. Increase of police protection is necessary now. More personnel, additional equipment are needed and the Federal crime-fighting facilities must be utilized.

Legislative Affairs and Municipal Employee Benefits Committees.

He was educated at Brookline High School, Boston University, the University of New Hampshire and Middlebury College and holds a B.S. degree in physics.

During World War II he was commanding officer of a submarine-chaser.

Alderman Roberts resides with his wife, the former Shirley Schwartz, and their daughter, Louise, at 210 Upland Ave., Newton Highlands. He is a member of Temple Israel.

He is vice president of Roberts Furs, past president of the Boston Fur Club and Strebor, Inc., of which he is a director.

"Will Newton grow old gracefully?" Roberts asks.

"Cities are like people, once they reach maturity they must take particular pains in order to maintain their charm and appearance. This is as much a question of taste and good planning as it is the expenditures of public monies," he replies.

"With the advent of rapid toll road access to move outlying communities and the renaissance of attractive in-town Boston apartments, Newton faces and must meet new competition to attract the discriminating home buyer," Roberts asserts.

"Our present and foreseeable tax rates mean that we have a high-price product to sell and if the city is not considered a highly desirable place in which to live, its property values and tax base will decline.

"The reputation of our school system is one of our greatest assets. All our other municipal services must aim for the same level of performance," Alderman Roberts states.

"Zoning and code enforcement are moving forward but still leave much to be desired. Urban renewal looms large on the horizon, but it is a desperate measure to be used only when no other solution is adequate. The small area available for commercial and industrial development means we must aggressively seek out the highest caliber firms rather than passively

Farrell Chapter D.A.V. Reports Much Activity

Farrell Chapter Disabled American Veterans, Joseph G. Bradley, commander, reports a number of activities, including the election of Arthur Trepianer to fill the unexpired term on the State Finance Committee of J. Edward Theriault, who has been elevated to senior vice commander of the State Department.

A group from the chapter attended the installation of officers of Newton Post 48, American Legion, as well as that of Oliver Ames Post in Brookline.

At the recent annual Bedford VA Hospital carnival, SVC Theriault and PC Bob Nichols assisted PC Walter D. Sheehan in a photo taking project co-sponsored by the Civic Welfare Committee and Newton Lodge of Elks, all to the delight of 800 hospital patients.

PDC Bouchard, with Margaret G. Sharro, state executive committee delegate of the auxiliary, attended a special annual membership and hospital drive sponsored by the DAV State Department at North Ashford, and have been delegated by Commdr. Bradley and Commdr. Emma Twombly to attend a similar affair Nov. 20 at the Northampton Hotel.

"The area of public safety can benefit by the breakthroughs that have been made in the communication field. This means that an even larger share of our personnel can be available for duty out on the streets. The meter maids are a first step in this direction," Roberts asserts.

Theodore Green Outlines His School Board Issues

Theodore G. Green, who is seeking election to the School Committee from Ward 6, recently outlined what he considers some of the issues in the School Board contest at an open meeting held by the Beethoven School PTA.

Green contended that there has been no watchdog over the School Committee budget and that this has been a factor in the steady rise of the city's tax rate.

He pointed out that the tax rate increased $7 this year and observed that the School Board already is committed to a $500,000 boost in its budget next year.

Green said this would mean an additional $1.50 jump in the tax rate but added that based on past history it can realistically be anticipated that the school budget will increase the tax rate by $3 in 1966.

He emphasized that he is interested in maintaining the quality of education in Newton at a realistic price to the home-owner," stressing that he is not "an advocate of cut-rate education in order to save pennies."

Green said that specifically he feels there should be a more careful scrutiny of the school budget.

He asserted that as far back as early last year the school department had 15 employees getting higher salaries than the Mayor.

This prompted many citizens to voice their displeasure with the extremely high administrative salaries as compared with teaching salaries, Green stated.

"These administrative salaries have continued to rise, and most certainly there are now more than 15 school department officials paid more than the Mayor," Green added.

He expressed the belief that "this is a situation well worthy of investigation for potential economies."

"Another area concerns the Junior College which recently has begun to cost the city, through the school department budget, a considerable sum," Green declared.

"Since this money is devoted to only a few hundred local residents on a collegiate level, I wonder if this is not just a prestige item," Green asked.

Green said that if this is the case he would propose that the item be diverted from the School Committee and placed in the city budget.

He said he feels that even though the School Committee has undisputed authority in determining how it wishes to expend its budget, it has a responsibility to work within the framework of the resources of the city.

"All our citizens, including the two-thirds of Newton's voters who do not have children in the public school system have a very heavy stake in the decisions of the School our community."

"It is now more than 12 years since Newton instituted a series of studies and community self-examination. Led by the Committee on Human Relations of the Newton Community Council, the conscientious probing by a number of our dedicated citizens resulted in the establishment of the City's Human Relations Committee under Article XVI of our Ordinances," he declared.

"This substantive and forthright action," Basbas continued, "constituted our city's acceptance of a legal and moral commitment to resolve tensions building up among the various ethnic, racial, religious and national groupings. I subscribed to this action in 1953 and I subscribe to a renewal of this commitment today."

"In more recent years dramatic developments, centering upon the obvious need for job training, job upgrading, equal educational opportunities, fair play in housing, and lasting recognition of the dignity of every individual, has captured the attention and stirred the consciences of millions of Americans," Basbas asserted.

"It is one of the distinguishing characteristics of Newton that private citizens of the community have been in the forefront, and among the most unselfish, dedicated and courageous in the State in fighting for fair housing practices and for the achievement of equality of opportunity for all."

Councillor Heckler asserted that one proposal which merits strong backing from legislators and the public alike calls for a big increase in the number of parole officers to support them.

She declared that the recommendations will shortly be before the full Legislature for consideration, and she urged legislators from this area to support them.

"It is one of the distinguishing characteristics of Newton that private citizens of the community have been in the forefront, and among the most unselfish, dedicated and courageous in the State in fighting for fair housing practices and for the achievement of equality of opportunity for all."

This city's solicitude over the housing needs of those uprooted by the construction of the Massachusetts Turnpike Extension clearly demonstrated our communal regard for those among us bearing an unnecessary burden.

And in the future we will have to concern ourselves with the problems of those displaced as a result of Urban Redevelopment programs in the city," he said.

"In Newton, home of the author of the anthem, 'America', a community where good government is a hallmark and where public school education draws the admiration of educators all over the world, we must continue to face up to the existence of ethnic strains representing origins from a host of nations. We must, therefore, revitalize our city machinery to develop an imaginative, practical and constructive program for understanding and cooperation among people of diverse backgrounds," Basbas continued.

"As Mayor I would proceed immediately to implement those revised sections of Article XVI of our Ordinances calling for the institution of a modern Community Relations Commission within the Executive Department," he stated.

"Under the provisions of this new ordinance recently enacted by the Board of Aldermen upon the recommendation of the Mayor's Special Committee, headed by Dr. Donald K. Davidson, the former principal of Newton South High School, I would appoint nine competent and concerned citizens.

"I would make every effort to choose men and women who have proved, not merely by promise and words but by experience and action, that they have the wisdom, interest and ability to plan and carry out an outstanding program of education and enlightenment."

"But this is one very important and basic need for strengthening the parole system," she added.

Councillor Heckler said she will discuss other changes needed to improve the parole system.

"This is a problem which should be of concern to every citizen in our Commonwealth. Most people do not realize either the complexity or the enormity of the problem," she declared.

"It is quite possible and, indeed, even probable that some crimes by paroled convicts could be prevented if they were kept under closer and more careful supervision.

"It certainly is a false and unwise economy to have an inadequate number of parole officers who, because of an excessive case load are unable to give proper supervision to paroled prisoners," Councillor Heckler said.

She stressed that this is just one facet of the very complex parole picture and that steps should be taken in a number of directions to improve it.

Varied Agenda For Aldermen's Meeting

When the Aldermen meet in City Hall next Monday night, the proposal to name the Albemarle Playground swimming pool "The Harry A. Gath Jr., Memorial Swimming Pool" will again come up for consideration. At the previous meeting the matter was referred to the Public Buildings Committee.

There will be public hearings of two petitions by Robert E. Hughes. One is for extension of non-conforming use, to replace the gasoline station at 199 Commonwealth Ave., Chestnut Hill, that was destroyed by fire. The proposed replacement is a gasoline line and serving station and repair shop.

Hughes' other petition is for increase in storage capacity there for inflammables.

Appointments due for action Monday are those of Dr. Charles G. Hayden, 17 Richfield Rd., West Newton, as a member of the Advisory Council on Health until the first Monday of February, 1968, and of John D. Mercury, 116 Algonquin Rd., Chestnut Hill, as a member of the Newton Housing Authority, to

$336,000 Due In Highway Money

Willard S. Pratt, director of public works, has estimated that Newton's share of the state's $15,000,000 highway construction program will be approximately $336,000 over a period of three years.

Some $100,000 has been expended by the city for street improvement so far this year, and $107,000 for sewers and drains, leaving about $120,000 in the sewer account.

Roberts. Refreshments will be served by Mrs. Daniel MacKinnon, hospitality chairman, and members of her committee.

Carmen Asks For Traffic Lights Here

Alderman William Carmen has written to Mayor Donald L. Gibbs asking that traffic lights be installed at Cherry and Webster streets and that a policewoman be assigned to that intersection until such time as the lights are in operation.

Carmen's letter to the Mayor follows:

"For sometime the people living in the general area of the junction of Cherry and Webster Streets have been seeking relief from the hazardous traffic conditions that exists with particular interest in the safety of the children who must cross this intersection to go to school. A petition for blinking lights in this area has been received by the Street Traffic Committee and Alderman Paul J. Burke of this district and the Representative from Ward 3 on the Street Traffic Committee, has presented much evidence which substantiates this need."

"As Chairman of the Street Traffic Committee, I have been and shall continue to attempt to obtain these vital needed lights."

"The purpose of this letter is to respectfully request and indeed urge you to assign a patrol woman to this area until such time as these lights are obtained."

"Many thanks for your kind consideration in this very important matter."

Borelli

A lifetime resident of the city, he was educated in the Newton public schools, studied business administration at Gulf Coast College, Fla., and was graduated from the Air Force Ground Communications course.

In his statement of candidacy, Borelli said, "While Newton enjoys the reputation of having one of the finest school systems in the United States, we must constantly strive to preserve this recognition. We are faced with the problem of rising enrollment, antiquated building and laboratory facilities, and lack of adequate classroom space."

"One of the major problems facing the School Committee today is the necessity for the new Newton High School. Although we are already committed to new construction of this facility by the School Committee during the next three to five years, this program should be accelerated because building materials and labor costs increase at the rate of 5 percent each year."

"The lack of foresight in the calculation of population trends and needs by the present School Committee was clearly demonstrated at Newton South High School. This new facility, which opened only four years ago, has been discovered to be no longer adequate to meet the needs of expanding student enrollment. The School Committee is now in the process of building an addition to this facility."

Continuing his statement, Mr. Borelli said that "The independent authority granted to the Newton School Committee in its charter by the General Court should remain free from the body politic and the direct control of the executive branch of government, leaving the School Committee responsible to the voters, the Newton taxpayer and to the General Court."

In discussing the policy of promoting students according to their ability, rather than to grade designations, he emphasized, "We must continue to present a challenge to our children. This challenge is to maintain an interest in the exploration of knowledge. Our need for knowledge can never be satisfied. In every phase of educational activity our information is incomplete and the search for knowledge must continue."

"The limit to expansion of research is time and money. For this reason the possible projects to be studied must be chosen with care, so that those judged to be more important will be given highest priority. In order to allocate the research funds judiciously, it is wise to classify the areas of endeavor. These classifications must meet the social and economic needs of the community."

"Better judgment must be used by the School Committee in future experiments that use our children for educational advancement," the candidate's statement concluded.

STANLEY H. FELDBERG

Feldberg Heads Fund Drive For Children's Aid

Stanley R. Feldberg, president of the Zayre Corp. department store chain, has presented much evidence which substantiates this need."

"As Chairman of the Street Traffic Committee, I have been and shall continue to attempt to obtain these vital needed lights."

The campaign, scheduled for November 21-28, seeks to raise $250,000 to enable the Association to continue its rehabilitation and educational programs in 14 Greater Boston communities, among them the City of Newton.

IRVING SCHWARTZ

Newtonite To Head Jewish Seminary Fund

Irving Schwartz of Newton, executive vice-president of Alimed Container Corporation, has been named general chairman of a $3 million dollar campaign to be launched October 7 by the New England Region of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America. The drive is part of a national effort to raise $35,000,000 for capital and endowment funds.

"The money," said Mr. Schwartz before a campaign cabinet meeting of New England congregational leaders who gathered this week at Temple Emanuel, Newton, "will enable the Seminary to construct a library, a building for academic studies and a residence hall for students."

The balance of the funds will be used for scholarships and endowments to attract worthy students to the Rabbinical School and Teacher Institute of the Seminary."

Mr. Schwartz, a former recipient of the Seminary's Louis Marshall National Community Service Award, has distinguished himself in other educational endeavors. A graduate of Tufts University, he was appointed a member of the school's President Committee. He has actively served Brandeis University and was named to the Massachusetts Board of Higher Education Assistance Corporation. . . .

Other community posts include trusteeships with Combined Jewish Philanthropies of Greater Boston and the Brookline-Brighton-Newton Jewish Community Center. He has long maintained an active interest in the Beth Israel Hospital and together with members of his family made possible the establishment of a Blood Bank here.

leaves of four of our villages. As a third generation resident of Newton, as a product of its playground and its people, I have the background and the interest to get the job done," Matthews declared.

Matthews in pinpointing a few areas which he feels require attention in the ward mentioned.

"Dump: the need to eliminate the use of the Rumford avenue dump by out of town people."

Traffic: He expressed concern with traffic flow on the following streets: River and Lexington streets, Commonwealth Avenue, Grove and Washington streets.

Recreation: Matthews asked, "When will the rest of the Pine street-New Burr School area be converted to satisfy the recreational needs of the area. Why has the construction of Lower Falls and Auburndale swimming pools been deferred in the Newton General Plan? Why have the Auburndale Field House Plans been deferred? These are some of the questions. We, the residents of Ward Four are entitled to answers.

"I promise 100 per cent effort directed to the solution of these and other problems within the framework of our tax realities."

Matthews, a practicing lawyer, associated with the Newton firm of Matthews, Nicolazzo and Harrington, has been admitted to practice before the State Supreme Judicial Court and the Federal District Court. He is a member of the Massachusetts Trial Lawyers Association, the Boston Bar Association, Middlesex Bar Association and Massachusetts Bar Association.

He has served as an area co-ordinator for the Heart Fund. Just recently he headed ticket sales for the Third Annual Cosgrove Memorial Scholarship Fund.

Newton-Wellesley To Charge Quarter For Hospital Parking

Confronted by too much parking and too few spaces, Newton-Wellesley Hospital has announced adoption of attendant parking in lots in front of the hospital effective tomorrow (Friday).

The 25-cent fee will help make the parking service a break-even operation. A driver will receive a tag, be directed to a parking site, leave his keys and call for his car when departing from the hospital.

Hospital Director William S. Brines said, "We long have been aware that lack of parking space discomforts visitors to the hospital, patients, volunteers, and personnel. This action seeks to ease the burden of people calling at the hospital. We believe the solution is feasible and equitable, and the best possible without building expensive new parking areas that would have to be located at a distance. We hope townspersons will lend their fullest cooperation."

The Fitts-In Company, operator of hospital and commercial parking facilities in Boston, has been hired. Representatives will test whether a parking garage located at the hospital might be feasible.

Attendants will be on duty during busy hours, in lots reached from the main driveway, nearest Beacon St. In lots at the north side of the hospital, nearest the M. B. T. A., parking will be main free. While the hospital will supervise those lots closely, no attendants will be provided.

The 25-cent fee will help make the parking service a break-even operation. A driver will receive a tag, be directed to a parking site, leave his keys and call for his car when departing from the hospital.

She has participated in various charitable drives and is presently an officer of the Newton Art Association.

The organizer and chairman of the Charles River Civic Association, Miss Cunningham expressed the belief that it is most important that all citizens be aware and be informed on all municipal issues.

"For too many years," she asserted, "the majority of the people of this city have possessed a lackadaisical attitude towards their city government. The importance of the role of the alderman in the spending of their tax dollar and in making decisions which would affect their entire lives has been of no concern to the citizenry."

"Not until they finally awoke to some unpleasant fact do they wonder how it all came about. If nothing else is accomplished, it is my desire to awaken each and every citizen of this city to these pertinent issues," Miss Cunningham declared.

Ideas permeating Urban Renewal are not the same basic principles upon which the original urban renewal initiators hoped to alleviate "slums." Even the definition of this very word has become distorted, so that now the head is cut off to fit the hat! Somewhere along the line, something has happened.

"Today's urban renewal programs now traverse far beyond the confines for which it was designed," she stated.

"We must stop and reconsider, ponder and analyze. We must put the entire urban renewal program back into its original position. The Urban Renewal Laws today have superseded the Constitutional Rights of too many people these past few years, and here in Newton we have the opportunity to moderate this unfortunate situation by finally recognizing the only supreme law of the land—the Constitution of the United States," Miss Cunningham stated.

A graduate of Our Lady's Grammar and High Schools, Miss Cunningham received her B. A. in Sociology from Regis College, Weston; her B. Ed. from Saint Francis Xavier University in Antigonish, N. S., where she is also a member of the Coady International Institute which teaches cooperative planning throughout the world.

She received her Master's in Education, in Guidance from Boston College and is presently teaching in the Arlington school system.

Newton Sealer Is To Attend State Parley

J. Ellis Bowen, sealer of weights and measures of the city of Newton, will attend the 70th annual conference of the Massachusetts Weights and Measures Association, of which he is a past president, to be held at the Northampton Inn and Wiggins Tavern in Northampton Oct. 7 and 8.

This conference is the largest gathering of its kind annually held within the state. Weights and measures officials meet to discuss problems, which in the long run, affect every family in the Commonwealth.

These officials are responsible for the testing for accuracy, and approval thereof, of everything from large capacity vehicle scales to very delicate prescription balances, fuel oil truck meters and gasoline pump meters, taximeters, the scales of the butcher, grocer and junkman; in fact any measuring or weighing device commercially used.

Scales, meters and pumps, like automobiles and other mechanical devices, can become worn, or simply get out of adjustment normally, and neither the merchant nor the customer is aware of this occurrence until the Sealer, through his regular inspection makes the discovery.

The consuming public and all merchants are dependent on these officials for assurance of accurate quantity determinations. If a merchant unknowingly, or carelessly, gives long weight or measure he is giving away his profit, his livelihood, and over a period of time is inviting bankruptcy. To give short weight or measure is a two pronged evil. It not only cheats the buying public as surely as giving them counterfeit money in change, but provides unfair competition by offering a means of underselling an honest competitor. It is the duty of these officials to see that neither long nor short weight or measure is tolerated.

Lectures, displays, discussions, and proposed solutions to many intricate and technical weights and measures problems will be featured.

New Pupils, Moms Guests Of Hyde PTA

A tea for the mothers of new pupils is planned by Hyde School PTA for Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 5, at 2:30 o'clock, in the Newton Highlands Workshop.

Refreshments for the tea will be provided by the Hospitality Committee, headed by Mrs. Thomas Lane. Mrs. Alvin Goodman, chairman of the Room Mothers Committee, announced that the room mothers will act as hostesses.

Airman 3/C Thomas Grieve, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Grieve, 14 Oakland St., Newton, has been accepted for training as an air policeman at Lackland AFB, Texas.

giving detailed and prudent thought to beneficial changes in the charter, particularly with respect to the number and method of selection of the board of aldermen and to the length of term and method of election of our mayor," he stated.

He is a graduate of Boston College cum laude, and of its Law School, where he was a member of the Board of Editors of the "Annual Survey of Massachusetts Law." In 1957 he was admitted to the Massachusetts Bar.

McDonnell has also been a teacher in the college of Arts and Sciences at Boston College. At present he is associated with the law firm of Parker, Coulter, Daley, and White, where he has been an active trial lawyer for the past 6 years.

McDonnell expressed the belief that one such change which should be given attention is the creation of a new main library and he has called for a start to detailed site selection studies for this project.

However, he also advocated the retention and improvement of the branch libraries as in keeping with Newton traditions.

He said he also would give a high priority to the school building program.

McDonnell has also been active in seeking consideration of Charter Reform.

Flaaschner

Police Study Committee and a member of the Claims and Rules Committee, the Finance Committee and the Special Library Committee.

Flaaschner previously served on the Aldermanic Committees on Public Works, Franchises and Licenses, and Municipal Parking and Meters.

In the eight years he has served as an Alderman Flaaschner has concerned himself primarily with city planning and land use problems. He was one of the leading advocates for the creation of a city planning department and has taken an active part in the work of updating the city's zoning code and establishing a system of enforcement of the city's zoning, building and health codes.

Flaaschner believes the city is now at a critical point of passing from one state to another in its history. Newton is no longer a wealthy suburb insulated from the stresses and strains of urban problems. However, Newton may still retain its garden city character if it faces the challenge of change boldly and intelligently," he declares.

There is now a high premium on good judgment and decisive action, because the problems are tougher and the stakes are higher than they used to be. This calls for public servants who are devoted to their responsibilities, energetic and farsighted, and whose judgment will also be tempered with experience and restraint," he asserts.

Flashner is a past president of the Oak Hill Park Association, the Oak Hill District Improvement Association, the Memorial School PTA, the Newton Chamber of the World Affairs Council; and in 1956 he was Chairman of the city's Red Feather Drive.

In the same year he was named "Young Man of the Year" by Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce. He has also been on the Board of Directors of the Newton Community Council, the Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross and the Newton Taxpayers Association.

He is a graduate of Boston Latin School, Yale, Littauer School of Public Administration at Harvard and Yale Law School. At Law School he was Managing Editor of the Yale Law Journal and a freshman English instructor.

Flashner lives at 564 Quinobequin Road, Waban. He is married to the former Beatrice R. Mandelstam of Newton. They have three daughters, one of whom is a sophomore at Elmira College and the others are students at Newton South High School and Warren Junior High School respectively.

Mr. Flashner is a member of the Massachusetts and Federal Bars and practices law as a partner in the law firm of Slinger, Stoneman & Kurland in Boston.

Whiting Chapter To Recall Start Of National DAR

On Monday evening, Oct. 4, members of Lydia Partridge Whiting Chapter, DAR, will gather at the home of the regent, Mrs. Herbert Anderson, for the first meeting of the season.

The dessert and social hour at 7:30 o'clock will feature a birthday cake commemorating the 75th anniversary of the founding of the National DAR.

Mrs. J. Douglas Johnston, costumed in the fashion of the 90's, will present "The DAR Story," telling of the 18 women who met Oct. 11, 1890, in Washington, D. C., to found a patriotic society. The result of that modest beginning is an organization of 185,000 women dedicated to patriotic endeavors, preservation of historic treasure, and encouragement of education. Through the years achievements along these lines have been impressive.

Mrs. Johnston's program will follow the eight o'clock business meeting, when a report of the fall state conference of the Massachusetts DAR will be given. The conference was held Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 29 and 30, at the New Ocean House in Swampscott, and was attended by Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. Edward Fletcher, Mrs. Edgar H. Brown, Mrs. William A. Hurley, Mrs. Harry L. Walen, and Mrs. David Hamblen.

He said that Ward 8 is one of the largest and most heavily populated wards in Newton and pays a substantial portion of the cost of running the city.

In charge of refreshments are Mrs. Louis Caterine, Mrs. C. Warren Dillaway, Mrs. Joseph P. Maloney, and Miss Marjorie Phelon.

Ward 8 Police Protection Is Inadequate Says Yarosh

Attorney David Yarosh, who is seeking election as Ward Alderman from Ward 8, declared today that the police protection provided for the Ward 8 section is inadequate.

Yarosh expressed "deep concern" over the number of house breaks, burglaries, robberies, stolen cars and thefts from automobiles which have been perpetrated in Ward 8.

He said that Ward 8 is one of the largest and most heavily populated wards in Newton and pays a substantial portion of the cost of running the city.

Yarosh protested that the police protection furnished for the ward is not sufficient to meet its needs.

Yarosh emphasized that he considers the members of the police department are doing a good job.

He complained, however, that the police force is undermanned and under-equipped, that it lacks both the necessary manpower and the equipment needed to do the job which should be done.

Attorney Yarosh pointed out that less than 10 percent of Newton's budget is spent for public safety.

The number of crimes committed in Newton, the losses suffered when Newton homes are burglarized and looted make it abundantly clear that our city is not spending enough money for police protection," Yarosh declared.

Yarosh said he considered it "false economy to maintain an under-manned and ill-equipped police force at a time when criminals are coming into the city to break into homes."

"This is a problem which must be met now, not at some time in the future," Yarosh declared.

"It is one of the most pressing and critical problems confronting Newton householders."

Yarosh said that if he is elected to the Board of Aldermen one of his first actions upon taking office will be to demand an expansion of the city's police force and the purchase of necessary equipment to combat present-day crime.

Andover Newton Has Courses For Teachers

Andover Newton Theological School, Newton Centre, has launched a new academic venture by providing graduate-level courses taught by an interfaith faculty and offered especially for secondary school teachers in the Greater Boston area.

The major course in this series during the fall semester begins on Monday evening, Oct. 4.

Plans for the interfaith series were worked out by Dr. Wesner Fallaw, Howard professor of religious education at Andover Newton, who was assisted by an interfaith committee. Such courses come within the interpretation of the recent Supreme Court rulings on the place of religion in the public schools and are recommended by key local educators, including Dr. Charles E. Brown, superintendent of the Newton public schools.

Guest professors representing the three major faiths for the fall Monday evening course on "The English Bible" include Father Philip King, professor of Sacred Scripture at St. John's Seminary; Dr. Baruch A. Levine, assistant professor of Near Eastern and Judaic studies at Brandeis University; and Dr. Wayne G. Rollins, assistant professor of Biblical history at Wellesley College. They are assisted by Dr. John H. Scammon, professor of Hebrew and Old Testament at Andover Newton and Mr. Thayer Warshaw, professor of English at Newton High School.

On Monday evenings during the spring semester, the lecturers for the course on "Religion and Public Education" will include Dean Robert F. Drinan, S.J., of Boston College Law School and Dr. Paul Vieth, Horace Bushnell professor emeritus of Christian nurture at Yale Divinity School.

Third, improvement of elementary school libraries and assurance that the new city library now being planned will meet the needs not only of Newton's adult population but also of the high school students.

"That our libraries badly need improvement is generally agreed," Professor Berman stated, "but again, more stimulus is required from the School Committee. Improve-

Berman Pinpoints Reforms Needed In Education Here

Harvard Law Professor Harold C. Berman, candidate for the School Committee from Ward 6, pledged at a series of house rallies and public appearances this week that he will seek the introduction of seven educational reforms if he is elected to the School Board. He said all the suggested changes could be made within the general limits of the present school budget.

Former School Committee Chairman Haskell C. Freedman, whose resignation from the School Board created the vacancy which Professor Berman is seeking to fill, declared that Professor Berman's proposals "deserve the serious attention of every Newton citizen."

"Professor Berman has presented an educational platform which is both practical and imaginative," Freedman stated. "I think Newton will be fortunate to have a man of his stature and ability on the School Committee."

Professor Berman's proposals, together with brief comments by him are as follows:

"First, improvement of methods of recruiting teachers, in order to attract successful experienced teachers from other cities.

"At present, almost all the approximately 200 new teachers hired each year for the Newton schools are young people, most of whom leave within two or three years because of marriage, maternity, moving away, desire to undertake further studies, and similar reasons," Professor Berman stated.

"Fifth, federal funds should be sought under Title 4 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 to enable Newton, in cooperation with universities and colleges, to establish exemplary educational programs that could serve as models for the nation.

"This would help the Newton schools and it would help the nation," Professor Berman said, "and it would not come out of our budget. Again, it would involve cooperation with institutions of higher education, and there I think I could be of help.

"Sixth, improvement of the teaching of social studies.

"That the teaching of social studies desperately needs to be improved is admitted by everyone," Professor Berman declared, "and a great deal of energy is being spent to chart out a new social studies curriculum.

"However, there is need for informed constructive criticism from people who are not professional educators but who at the same time are not outsiders—in other words, from representatives of the public interest on the School Committee who know the problems of teaching social studies.

"For example, social studies classes in the past have tended to neglect the importance of teaching our youth to understand fundamental principles of law, partly because professional educators are themselves usually not well educated in law.

"I am now a member of the Board of Governors of a new Institute at Columbia University, called the Center for Research and Education in American Liberties, which is concerned with giving our college, high school, and elementary school pupils a deeper knowledge of the legal and other foundations of our liberties.

"As a member of the Newton School Committee I would not, of course, interfere with the way social studies is now being taught, but I think I could give some guidance and some encouragement in making improvements," Prof. Berman stated.

"Seventh, improvement of relations between Newton schools and those of Greater Boston.

"I believe that the Newton Schools must take increasing responsibility for educating our young people to understand and to meet the racial and economic and political problems that confront us all as residents of Greater Boston and as citizens of the United States," Professor Berman stressed.

"Programs such as the one now being instituted at one of our junior high schools, directed to bringing a Newton school into close relations with a deprived and racially imbalanced school in Boston, with interchange of experience both on the teaching and the learning levels, is one example of what can be done. The School Committee should encourage such examples to be multiplied a dozenfold."

In summarizing his platform, Professor Berman concluded "Most of the major problems that now confront our schools can be solved, and should be solved, within the general limits of our present tax-rate, by the exercise of intelligence and imagination."

Newton Young GOP To Meet This Evening

The Newton Young Republican Club will hold its kick-off meeting of the 1965-66 season tonight, Thursday evening, September 30. To be held at the Newton Community Center, 429 Cherry Street, West Newton, at 8:00 p.m. The meeting will feature a talk by Charles Morang on Urban Renewal—A Survey of Laws and Procedures.

Mr. Morang is presently serving as Assistant City Solicitor for Code Enforcement, and has been working closely with the City Planner in the area of Urban Renewal as it would apply to Newton. He was formerly on the Newton Board of Public Welfare, and has served as an Alderman at Large from Ward Eight for three terms and as Administrative Assistant to Mayor Gibbs.

President of the Newton Young Republican Club, Melvin Clayton, has extended an invitation to the general public to attend.

Preceding Mr. Morang's talk, there will be a short club business meeting, and refreshments will be served following the program.

Receives Gavel

Wor. Richard I. Miranda, left, new Master of Garden City A.F. and A.M., receives gavel from outgoing Wor. Daniel Ostrosky, at recent Newtonville installation exercises.

Mothers Demand Traffic Lights At Intersection

West Newton mothers meeting Tuesday, declared themselves determined to persuade the city to put up a traffic light at Cherry and Webster Sts., where some 100 Davis and St. Bernard's School children have to cross each school day.

Said to be one of the most accident-prone spots in the city, that West Newton crossing has been patrolled by the group of mothers four times each day since last Friday. Tuesday's meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Patricia Clegg, 112 Webster St., and it was there that the group put itself vigorously on record.

Said Mrs. Clegg, "We're trying to plead with drivers to slow down."

Webster St. was described by one of the mothers as a "speedway" used by drivers to avoid Washington St. since the completion of the toll road extension.

In Mayor Gibb's absence from the city, the mothers obtained action from the acting mayor, President Wendell R. Bauckman of the Board of Alderman. Mr. Bauckman stood at the crossing for a while Monday night with Mrs. Clegg, Mrs. Florence Vona of 110 Webster St., and with Alderman Paul F. Burke.

According to Mrs. Clegg, Bauckman was entirely in sympathy with the traffic light request, but said that it might take some time to have it installed. Alderman Burke's petition for one, submitted to the Board several months ago, has had no action.

Meantime, the mothers hope to persuade Chief Philip Purcell of the police to assign a woman patrol officer to the site.

Mental Health Center Open House Oct. 3

Prior to the official opening to the public of the newly-established Newton Mental Health Center, Action for Mental Health in Newton, the sponsoring association, will hold an invitational Open House at its new headquarters at 398 Walnut St., Newtonville, on Sunday, October 3, from 2 to 5 p.m.

In addition to the Board of Directors and members of the organization, invitations have been issued to Mayor Donald L. Gibbs and other city officials, the commissioner and asst. commissioner of the Mass. Dept. of Mental Health, directors of all community agencies with whom the new Center will be working, principals of all schools, clergy representing every religious denomination, Directors of other state-operated clinics and child psychiatrists who reside in Newton.

Dr. William Stone, Medical Director of the Newton Mental Health Center, and Kenneth Huberman, president of Action for Mental Health in Newton, will introduce the professional staff and explain the methods of referral and working procedures of the Clinic.
